J. B. DUNCAN SEES A DECLINE IN BRITISH NOBILITY.

SEES THE ROYAL CARRIAGE

Thinks the Big Nations Ought to Keep Hands Off in Balkan War and Let Little Fellows Fight It Out.

London, England, August 24, 1912.—Since I wrote my last letter home I have visited a few noted places in and around London, as many as the limited time at my disposal and the depleted condition of the exchequer would permit.

One of the places most frequently visited by tourists when in England is the old tower, which, I believe is the only fortress in the city. I was told that it contains barracks for several thousand soldiers, a strong box for the safe keeping of the royal jewels, and there may still be seen the traitors' gate through which Raleigh and Sydney entered on the way to their death and just opposite to this entrance the bloody tower, the scene of so many brutal murders, at least it seems so to us living in a more refined and cultivated age; and yet, notwithstanding the fact that we have been surrounded for centuries by the ameliorating influences of a supposedly better civilization, there is, after all, but a step back to the savagery of these olden times. These old English were certainly most prodigal of human life when such lives as Raleigh's and Sydney's could be destroyed upon such slight pretexts.

St. Paul's cathedral and Westminster Abbey should not be omitted from the list of any well planned entourage about London; but, as I am not skilled in ability to describe architecture, a thing attempted by most writers, I will omit all efforts in that direction further than to say that these grand old piles surpass everything to which my vocabulary is adequate. At some other time I will tell you about some of the things I saw in old Westminster.

In the moving picture show that now moves instead of "hangs on memory's walls," Windsor castle emerges rapidly into view before the mind's eye.

This is one of the chief places of residence in the English sovereigns, located in the town of Windsor about twenty miles from London on the river Thames, a place beautiful in architecture, surrounded with most attractive shrubbery, splendid driveways and flowerbeds well cared for.

A picture of Buckingham place, the city residence of England's superfluous royalty, comes next to view. I would, I could describe it right, but I can't. I do know this, however, that although George and his frow were there at the time of my visit, I did not have an introduction nor did I see them except at a distance as the royal cortege passed rapidly through the gates taking their constitutional. I wonder what earthly use these enlightened, up-to-date English people have for them; and yet they seem to like them, judging from the crowds that try to see every time they go beyond the confines of their palace walls. If we would guard our fellows as well as the English do George and his wife they might not get shot up so much.

I didn't send in my card, and doubt if I should have been invited to dine with the royal pair if I had.

I don't think George and Mary are worth half as much to the British Empire as Asquith or Lloyd George—the latter reminds me, in appearance and character of our own Justice Hughes, former governor of New York.

The nobility of England seems to be rapidly falling into a state of innocuous desuetude, and would have, ere this, been a thing of the past, were it not that the people of England seem to cling to their traditional ideas with a sort of fatuous regard.

Just now the big powers—England, France, Australia, Germany, et al. are much disturbed over the balkan trouble with the Turks. When Asquith asked me what I thought about it, I told him that my advice is to keep hands off and let the Greeks, Bulgars, Romanians and others whip thunder out of the sick man of Europe. I don't know whether he'll take my advice or not. I am afraid the pressure will be too strong for him—there are some pretty good pickins for some of these big powers around Constantinople—let 'em fight—it will give Moody a good market for his stuff, if Moody gets in as I think he will—but I must quit for the nonce. Will see you later.

TAFT GIVES THANKS.

President Issues Proclamation Designating November 28 as Thanksgiving Day.

President Taft Thursday issued a proclamation setting aside Nov. 28 as Thanksgiving day.

The proclamation follows: By the president of the United States of America.

A proclamation: A God-fearing nation like ours owes it to its inborn and sincere sense of moral duty to testify its devout gratitude to the All-Giver for the countless benefits it has enjoyed. For many years it has been customary at the close of the year for the national executive to call upon his fellow countrymen to offer praise and thanks to God for the manifold blessings vouchsafed to them in the past and to unite in earnest supplication for their continuance.

The year now drawing to a close has been notably favorable to our fortune land. At peace within and without, free from the perturbations and calamities that have afflicted other peoples, rich in harvests so abundant and in industries so productive that the overflow of our prosperity has advantaged the whole world, strong in the steadfast conservation of the heritage of self-government bequeathed to us by the wisdom of our fathers, and firm in the resolve to transmit that heritage, unimpaired but rather improved by good use, to our children and our children's children for all time to come, the people of this country have abundant cause for contented gratitude.

Wherefore, I, William Howard Taft, president of the United States of America, in pursuance to long established usage and response to the wish of the American people, invite my countrymen wheresoever they may sojour, to join, on Thursday, the 28th day of this month of November, in appropriate ascription of praise and thanks to God for the good gifts that have been our portion and in humble prayer that His great mercies toward us may endure.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington the 7th day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred twelve, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-seventh.

WILLIAM H. TAFT.

By the president: Alvey A. Adee, acting secretary of state.

PROFIT IS DOUBLED

EXPERIMENTS IN CHICKEN CULTURE HAVE HAD THAT EFFECT.

AVERAGE 134 EGGS A YEAR

In Egg Laying Contest 655 Hens Made That Record as Compared With 80 Eggs the Country Over.

With a record of 281 eggs laid in one year a White Plymouth Rock hen in the national egg laying contest just closed at Mountain Grove, Mo., has almost equaled the North American record of 282 eggs, held by a Barred Plymouth Rock at Guelph, Canada. The hen which won first honors at Mountain Grove is owned by J. A. Bickerdike of Millersville, Ill. The prize from Missouri is $25.

The leading pen of five hens, rose comb Rhode Island Reds, owned by D. E. Hall of California, Mo., made a record of 1,042 eggs, or an average of over 208 eggs for each hen. Two silver cups and other prizes go to the leading pen.

The contest, which closed November 1, has done much for the advancement of poultry in Missouri, the greatest hen state, and the Missouri poultry board is managing a second national contest, which will begin here November 15.

There were 655 hens from all parts of the country in the contest, and they laid a total of 87,843 eggs, or an average of over 134 eggs a hen.

T. E. Quisenberry, who has charge of the poultry experiment station here, believes the egg production of Missouri and other states will be materially increased as a result of the contests. "We feel that the showing has been satisfactory," Mr. Quisenberry said today, "considering that more than half the birds entered for the first year were carelessly and promiscuously bred, some too young, some too old. In contrast with our average egg record of 134 eggs is the record of only eighty eggs a year per hen the country over. That shows what proper feed, housing and care will do.

"We must turn our attention in this country to the egg laying strain of poultry. Strain rather than variety is what counts in egg production we have found in this contest. Australia is far in advance of the breeders of this country in breeding for egg production.

"The leading pen in this contest averaged more than 208 eggs a hen, but the leading pen in an Australian contest which recently closed averaged more than 250 eggs a hen. Also, in the same Australian contest 360 hens gathered from sixty different breeders made an average of nearly two hundred eggs a hen for the entire 360 hens. But they have been conducting these contests in that country for ten years or longer and the people have been educated to breed for egg production. We hope to stimulate some such effort in this country. If we can even raise the average to 150 or 160 eggs a hen in this country, we can more than double or treble the profit in poultry to the average breeder, for he can get this increase in most cases without little if any additional cost for houses, feed and stock."

The second best pen record in the contest was made by five White Wyandottes owned by P. J. Jansen of Little Rock, Ark. The hens laid 1,015 eggs. A pen of single comb White Leghorns owned by Walter Hogan of Petaluma, Cal., was third with an egg production of 991 eggs for the year. Fourth honors went to five Barred Plymouth Rocks owned by the Brooks Sanitary Hennery at Morgan Park, Ill. The hens laid 967 eggs in the twelve months.

The second prize for individual egg production went to D. E. Hall of California, Mo., whose rose comb Rhode Island Red hen laid 255 eggs in the year. A Barred Plymouth Rock owned by M. W. Baldwin of Sioux City, Ia., took third honors with a record of 245 eggs.

Seven hundred hens, representing twenty varieties of poultry and gathered from England, Canada and twenty states, will compete in the next contest at Mountain Grove. The following varieties will be represented by thirty hens each, all having exactly the same number of pens: Anconas, Black Langshans, S. C. White Leghorns, R. C. White Leghorns, S. C. Brown Leghorns, S. C. Buff Leghorns, Black Minorcas, Buff Orpingtons, White Orpingtons, Black Orpingtons, Barred Plymouth Rocks, Buff Plymouth Rocks, Partridge Plymouth Rocks, White Plymouth Rocks, S. C. Rhode Island Reds, R. C. Rhode Island Reds, Buff Wyandottes, Silver Wyandottes,

Partridge Wyandottes and White Wyandottes. All pens were filled thirty days before the second contest was scheduled to begin and more than fifty entries had to be returned.—Kansas City Star.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE IN 1914.

Amendment Will Probably Be Submitted in This State at That Time.

Letters are being sent out from the Missouri Equal Suffrage Association headquarters in St. Louis, which show that the women in charge have been so much encouraged by the result of equal suffrage amendments in other states this year that they will try it in Missouri in 1914.

Mrs. George Gellhorns, the president, says in a letter to the Daily Democrat-Forum:

"The legislature convenes in January, 1913, when we propose to submit a suffrage amendment. We believe the legislature will give this favorable consideration if there are enough people in the state demand it. Little attention will be paid if the demand comes only from Kansas City and St. Louis, for it is a well known fact, proven again in our primaries, that the country holds the balance of power politically in Missouri. If the legislature passes this suffrage before the votes of the state in November, 1914. Should they fail to pass it we will submit an initiative petition in January, 1914, to be voted on in November, 1914. You can easily see that the former method is the most desirable."

Mrs. Gellhorn says the women have been making a study of suffrage sentiment in the state for the past eighteen months and have concluded that the time is ripe to make a determined campaign.

WON IN BASKET BALL.

Normal Team Beat Rosendale High School Friday Afternoon.

The basket ball game Friday afternoon between the Rosendale high school team and the Normal five resulted in a lopsided victory of 63 to 14 for the Normal. But the score doesn't tell the true story, for while the high school chaps were clearly outclassed by their large and more experienced opponents, they put up a stubborn fight, and at times played brilliant team work.

Cap. Vandersloot of the locals had his old-time eye for baskets. He garnered thirteen goals from the field and a free throw.

Estes, the tow-headed Rosendale forward, shot three field goals. The line-up:

Summary—Field goals, Vandersloot 13, Daise 5, Perrin 2, Taylor 4, Seymour 5, Estes 3, Wright, Chatman.

A preliminary contest was staged by the Bull Mooses of the Normal and the Business college quintet. The collegians won, 15 to 10.

Cut Quite a Gash on His Forehead.

Douglas, the two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wells, fell on the basement steps in the Alderman Dry Goods store in Maryville Saturday and cut quite a gash on his forehead. Mrs. Wells, Misses Dode Albright and Alma Rodman were going down into the basement and Mrs. Wells tripped, letting the little boy fall. Drs. Leslie Dean and Will Wallis, Jr., were called and found that his forehead was cut to the bone and it was necessary to take five stitches.—Skidmore News Era.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Turpin and son of Rea, Mo., who have been visiting Mr. Turpin's cousin, Mrs. Solon Clark, during the teachers' meeting, returned home Saturday. Mr. Turpin is the principal and Mrs. Turpin a grade teacher of the schools at Rea.

Prof. V. I. Moore returned Saturday morning from Tarkio where he was called Friday to act as an official in the Tarkio-Missouri Wesleyan football game. Missouri Wesleyan won, 6 to 5.

Mrs. T. Hanna and sons, George and Floyd Hanna, of Bolckow, came Thursday to visit Mrs. J. C. Farrar, north of Maryville, during the corn contest at the teachers' meeting.

Professor and Mrs. W. R. Lowrey and baby boy, who have been attending the teachers' meeting, returned to their home in Hopkins Saturday noon.

GAVE HER OVATION

MISS MILDRED MORRISON RECEIVED WITH FAVOR HERE.

IT WAS HER HOMECOMING

The Entire Company Pleased the Audience Which Could Find no Flaws in the Entire Program.

Maryville heard real music at the First M. E. church Saturday night, when "The University Girls" appeared in the opening number of the State Normal lecture course. A splendid audience was out to hear them, and if this first evening is a criterion of what is to follow this winter, Maryville has some extraordinary things in store for her.

The fact that Miss Mildred Morrison, a Maryville girl, is a member of the company added to the interest of the appearance of this concert company, and the ovation she received when she stepped out to give her first solo was a credit to the audience as well as a compliment to the singer. When she concluded singing the two ballads, two armfuls of pink chrysanthemums and pink roses were given to her, and she responded to two encores. It was plain to be seen that Miss Morrison was much affected by her reception, and the members of the company took pride in it. Miss Morrison's voice has improved in quality and power, and retains the bird-like sweetness and lightness and purity that has always characterized her singing.

The program was well selected and showed a wide range of ability for each member of the company. They are genuine artists and this, added to the distinguished and beautiful personal appearance that each possesses, makes a delightful evening for an audience with them. The young women represent five colleges and universities in five states. They are Miss Mildred Morrison, soloist; Miss Dollie McDonnell of Michigan, who was the inimitable reader; Miss Linda Mohrman, director and violinist; Miss Helen Gould, clarinetist; Miss Nora Brownlee of Pennsylvania, slide trombone; Miss Faye Palmer of Iowa, pianist.

Miss Morrison was the guest of Dean and Mrs. G. H. Colbert while in the city. The company left Sunday on the 10:52 Wabash train for Oklahoma City, where they will appear Monday night, and will make other Oklahoma points. They will then go to Texas and make several gulf cities, and the month of December will be spent in Florida. The week of Christmas will be a holiday week with them, which they will spend at Tampa. They will resume their tour along the Atlantic coast, ending their engagement in New England in April.

While in Maryville Miss Gould, the clarinetist, received an offer from the Boston Ladies' orchestra, the finest woman's musical organization in the country, to meet them in Boston next summer for an engagement, and to name her salary.

Miss Morrison spent the past season in Chautauqua work.

Card of Thanks.

The committee on securing boarding places for teachers at the Teachers' association desires to express its thanks and appreciation for the liberal response made by the citizens of Maryville to care for teachers while here. We were not able to fill all the places reported to us, as a large per cent of the teachers had written to persons whom they knew and engaged board and rooms before coming to Maryville.

SEVERAL CASES CONTINUED AND OTHERS WERE DISMISSED.

YOUNGER CASES HEARD

Decree For Plaintiff in One While Another Was Taken Under Advice—Sale in Hoshor Suit.

Circuit court met in regular session Monday with Judge W. C. Ellison on the bench.

The case of Rockwell Bros. vs. Joseph Younger et al. was heard before the court and a decree was given finding for the plaintiff. This suit is one of those Elmo cases and was to cancel a deed that Younger had given. The property involved is the home property of Younger, and Rockwell Bros. obtained the property under a sheriff's sale, but a deed before that had been given by Younger transferring it to the Elmo Improvement and Business company.

Another Younger case taken up was that of O. A. Simmons vs. the Elmo Improvement and Business company, George B. Baker, Coin Lumber Co., Rockwell Bros., F. M. Dunham & Co., McCall & Sawyers et al. The purpose of this suit is to combine all of the suits against Younger in one suit and to have the several causes of action in one suit. But the attorneys for the defendants are fighting this and say that each suit must be separate.

Several decisions and opinions were read to the court, but the court took the matter under advisement.

Grover Manley, charged with disturbing the peace, was fined $5 and costs.

The parole docket was taken up Monday morning and the following cases were continued: Oscar Cussins, E. C. Estes, Wood Gauley, W. E. Wallace. Bunk Edmiston was discharged as to his parole, so was Walter Clemmens and W. E. Wallace on six cases.

The case of John L. Hoshor vs. Otis Hoshor et al. partition, cause submitted to the court and evidence heard and decree in partition by sale by sheriff. Wm. Akin vs. Hannah Akin to cancel deed, a decree was given for the plaintiff.

Emma E. Eckles et al. vs. Glen L. Eckles, partition, M. E. Ford was appointed guardian ad litem of Glen Eckles. The cause was submitted to court and evidence heard and finding and decree as per forma filed.

SCARLET FEVER IN HOPKINS.

There Are Twelve Cases and the Board of Education is Considering Closing the Schools.

With twelve cases of scarlet fever in and near Hopkins, the number increasing within the last week, the Hopkins school board is seriously considering the advisability of closing the schools. There have been several cases off and on for several months in that vicinity, and it was thought the disease would end with each case, but it has not, and is on the increase.

DR. McMURRY SAYS SCHOOL CURRICULUM IS WRONG.

MOST IMPORTANT MEET

Greatest Educational Gathering Ever Held in Northwest Missouri—To Be Yearly Affair.

"I don't blame the boy for quitting school," was the somewhat startling statement made by Dr. Frank M. McMurry of Columbia university, New York, in his address before the Teachers' association Saturday afternoon, "and it is all the fault of the curriculum."

To retain the interest of the pupils those subjects must be included in the school curriculum that will be of future value to the students, Dr. McMurry thinks.

Dr. McMurry illustrated his different points by telling the audience of personal experiences that he had had in the class room.

Following Dr. McMurry's address, which was the closing one of meeting the prizes for the domestic science and corn contests were awarded. Miss Hettie M. Anthony of the Normal department of home economics awarded the domestic science prizes, and the awards for the corn contest were made by Prof. John E. Cameron.

Without doubt the Joint Teachers association which closed Saturday was the most important educational meeting ever held in Northwest Missouri. As was stated in Saturday's issue of The Democrat-Forum the association was made a permanent affair, and the next meeting will be held in this city a year hence.

DR. SAMUEL DUNN IS DEAD.

Passed Away Sunday at the Home of His Daughter, Mrs. Irvin Matthews of Tarkio.

Dr. Samuel M. Dunn, for many years a practicing physician of Nodaway county, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Irvin Matthews of Tarkio, Sunday afternoon after a few days' slight illness.

The funeral services will take place at Rock Port Tuesday. Dr. J. A. Bickett of this city, whose wife was a sister of Dr. Dunn, received the announcement of the death of his brother-in-law Monday morning. He expects to attend the funeral services at Rock Port Tuesday, accompanied by his granddaughter, Miss Orlena Helply.

Dr. Dunn was 82 years of age July 30. He visited in Maryville last summer at the home of his niece, Mrs. Wm. Helply, and seemed to be enjoying the best of health. He came to Maryville from Ponca City, Okla., where he had been living since he left Maryville, about twenty years ago. He is survived by his second wife and their daughter, Bessie. The children surviving of his first marriage are Joseph Dunn of Topeka, Kan., and Cora, now Mrs. Irvin Matthews of Tarkio.

Another son, Dr. Arthur C. Dunn, died very suddenly last summer at his home at Byron, Neb., where he had practiced medicine for a good many years and was the postmaster at the time of his death. His burial took place at Rock Port. Another daughter, Nannie Dunn, married James Sherman, a resident of Maryville, and her death occurred at Coia, Ia., where the family moved in later years.

Dr. Dunn was a member of a family of considerable prominence in Jasper county, Indiana. His parents moved to Iroquois county, Illinois, while he was young and he spent his early days on a farm. His father was a physician and his son began the study of medicine in early boyhood with his father as teacher. In 1852 young Dr. Dunn moved to Polk county, Iowa, and settled in Carlisle. The following year he went to Decatur county, Iowa, and while living there he was elected clerk of the circuit court, holding the office for four years. He attended medical lectures at Rush Medical college in Chicago and was graduated in 1862. In 1863 Dr. Dunn located in Maryville, where he had a large practice up to the time he went to Oklahoma. While living in Maryville he was a member of the faculty of the Northwestern Medical college at St. Joseph. He was married in 1853 to Miss Nancy J. Harrah of Decatur county, Iowa. Her death occurred in Maryville many years ago.

Miss Lavisa Swinford and Miss Maud Helply went to Pickering Thursday to visit Miss Lavisa's sister, Miss Pearl Berry.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Advertisement.

TURKS FIGHT AGAINST TIME

Practically Only Hope of Ottomans is Through Intervention.

CHOLERA SPREADING RAPIDLY

Lack of Sanitary Arrangements or Proper Food Puts Constantinople at Mercy of Plague—Six Great Powers Near Agreement.

London, Nov. 11.—The Bulgarian attack on the Tchatalja lines goes on unrelentingly. According to a correspondent at the front, further Turkish positions have been captured, but their location has not been indicated, in accordance with the invariable Bulgarian plan never to reveal information to the enemy.

There is another unconfirmed report that Monastir has been captured. This and the capture of Dibra, an important town in Albania, by the Serbians, after heavy fighting, constitute all the military news of importance since Saturday.

War a Bloody Affair.

Some idea of the bloody nature of the war may be formed from the fact it is now estimated that 150,000 men have been put out of action on both sides since the opening of hostilities. The Turkish government clearly has little hope of holding the Tchatalja lines.

There is no confirmation of the report that the Turkish government has opened direct negotiations with the allies. Turkey's immediate object appears to be to gain time, hoping to gain advantage through a row among great powers.

Arms Being Confiscated.

Constantinople, Nov. 11.—Among the measures to prevent an outbreak of disorders, the government has closed all the unionist clubs and has ordered the disarmament of all classes of the population. Guns, pistols, swords and daggers are confiscated wherever discovered. Even refugees are compelled to surrender any weapons in their possession and carloads of miscellaneous articles of a deadly nature are daily brought to the ministry of war.

The outbreak of cholera is assuming severe proportions. Twenty-three cases have occurred among the troops. Powers May Agree.

Paris, Nov. 11.—The great powers, Great Britain, France and Russia, constituting the triple entente, and Germany, Austria and Italy, the triple alliance, are believed to be at the point of reaching an agreement to prevent the Bulgarian army from occupying Constantinople. The six governments find themselves in accord on the principle, and active exchanges are in progress as to the means to be taken to bring about this result.

URGES SMALL TOWN LIBRARIES

Kansas Library Association Wants Legislation to Provide More Books for Villages.

Manhattan, Kan., Nov. 11.—Every little town in Kansas and every little cross-roads community might have books to read if the state could be induced to do its duty. In the opinion of the librarians who assembled in Manhattan last week this duty consists in urging the legislature to create a traveling libraries commission. The commission should have authority to employ a library visitor or organizer and the legislature should make an appropriation of $2,000 a year to pay for his services.

The librarians, constituting the Kansas library association, adopted a resolution embodying those suggestions and ordered that every member of the legislature have a copy.

INDEPENDENT REFINERY LOSES

Uncle Sam Oil Company Must Try Again for Indian Leases in Oklahoma.

Washington, Nov. 11.—At a hearing in the White house late in the afternoon President Taft sustained the action of the department of the interior in cancelling leases entered into by the tribal council of the five civilized tribes of Indians with the Uncle Sam Oil company of Oklahoma, for several hundred thousand acres of oil land owned by the Indians.

The oil company appealed the case to the president. The Secretary of the Interior Walter Fisher, said after the hearing that bids for leases of the same land in smaller quantities than those made out to the Uncle Sam company would be opened in Oklahoma next week.

Killed While Hunting.

Wichita, Kan., Nov. 11.—Carl Lichenberger, 13 years old, was shot and killed while hunting on the Little Arkansas river. A bullet from a .22 caliber rifle entered his left arm and passing through, cut a blood vessel near his heart. Lloyd Brummit, 16 years old, and Will Griswold, 15 years old, who were shooting at a mark on the other side of the river, heard Lichenberger scream and believing a bullet from their rifle had struck him, waded the river and found him unconscious. It is not known which of the boys shot him.

WARDEN'S LIFE IS THREATENED

MICHIGAN PENITENTIARY A HOT-BED OF MUTINY.

Trusty Tells of Plot Against Officials—Close Watch Necessary to Avoid Further Fires.

Jackson, Mich., Nov. 11.—The life of Warden Simpson of the state penitentiary has been threatened by convicts since the removal of several prisoners to Detroit. A trusty prisoner told one of the prison officials of the plot.

It is believed detectives still are at work in the institution and that the alleged plot to kill the warden will be exposed and the leaders removed to some other penal institution.

Meanwhile Warden Simpson goes in and out of the yards unaccompanied, but not without having a loaded revolver in his pocket. The warden formerly was a military man and is considered a good shot.

Close watch is being kept in the prison to see that no more fires are set. The most dangerous place in the institution is the hospital, which is on the fourth floor. It always has been considered a firetrap.

"As to how deep a plot has been laid for the killing of the warden I am unable to say," a prison official said. "But I have heard that there are men in the prison who have sworn they would kill the warden if they never lived to do another thing. It is my understanding the prisoners who seek to slay the warden are serving time for murder, and now figure that inasmuch as capital punishment is not in vogue in this state that they could not be given anything worse than they are receiving now."

"If such a plot is carried out the deed will not be done openly. Guns have been smuggled into the prison before now, and it is easy enough to do it again. A loaded revolver could be thrown over the wall any night. The shooting would doubtless be done from ambush with a silencer attached that would be difficult to tell whence the shot was fired."

KANSAS FREIGHT RATES LOWER

Public Utilities Commission Orders Railroads to Establish New Tariffs Favoring Shippers.

Topeka, Nov. 11.—The Kansas public utilities commission made an order of great importance to the livestock, grain and natural products shippers of the state because of marked rate reductions. The commission has required all the Kansas railroads to establish joint rates on all the lines of the state.

Heretofore the rates over two lines have been the sum of the local rates except in a few cases where joint through rates have been voluntarily established by action of the lines themselves. This basis made it impossible to ship livestock, grain or other commodities over two lines.

The new rates will vary from 80 to 85 per cent of the sum of the local rates.

Form New State Battalion.

Sedalia, Mo., Nov. 11.—Maj. Samuel W. James, for 20 years connected with the militia of Missouri, will begin at once the organization of a battalion of infantry to be attached to the sixth regiment of which Col. Oliver of Caruthersville, Mo., is commander. One of the companies will be organized in Sedalia. The three remaining companies will be located in either Warrensburg, Lexington, Marshall, Booneville or Windsor.

Owen Offers Kafir Prizes.

Stillwater, Ok., Nov. 11.—To promote Kafir corn raising in Oklahoma, Senator Robert L. Owen offers $500 in prizes to members of the Boys' and Girls' clubs organized by the Oklahoma agricultural and mechanical college for the best exhibits of Kafir corn. The awards are open to boys and girls from 9 to 18 years old who are members of the clubs.

ANTI-TRUST CASES WILL BE RUSHED

Pending Prosecutions to be Ready if Possible by March 4.

IMPORTANT POINTS INVOLVED

Rights of "Middlemen" in Commerce will Depend on Outcome of Lumber Suit—Shoe Machinery Case Goes Over.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The department of justice is making a strenuous effort to push as close to conclusion as possible the pending anti-trust prosecutions for President-Elect Wilson and his attorney general when they take the oath of office on March 4. The taking of testimony in most of the suits will have been completed. It is believed, and the cases will be before the courts for decision before the present administration expires.

While the issues have been joined in the two biggest pending cases—the suits against the steel and harvester "trusts"—it is not thought they will be ready for decision by March 4. The steel suit probably will extend well into the new administration, but officials foresee the end of the testimony and arguments in the harvester case by April or May.

Hard Coal and Cotton First.

Several of the suits against retail lumber dealers' associations, regarded as among the most important cases because they involve the extent of the rights of "middlemen" in commerce will in all probability be ready for determination before President Taft retires.

It is believed the United States supreme court is now ready to render its opinion in the "hard coal" suits and the "cotton corner" suit.

While the taking of testimony in the civil suit for the dissolution of the American Sugar Refining company is approaching conclusion, it is reported that Attorney General Wickersham will not retry the criminal sugar case which resulted in a disagreement of the jury.

Many Will Not Be Ready.

The cases against the Keystone Watch Case company, the magazine trust and the Trans-Atlantic steamship "pool," according to expectations, will be in the hands of judges by inauguration day.

Among the important issues which likely will go over into the Wilson administration for final preparation for the courts are the cases against the National Cash Register company, the "Motion picture trust," several alleged steamship "pools," and the United Shoe Machinery company.

KANSAS INSURANCE SUIT ENDED

Litigation Started Five Years Ago Over Use of Rate Books Dismissed by Supreme Court.

Topeka, Nov. 11.—The long drawn out case brought by the state against the Aetna Fire Insurance company and 75 other fire insurance companies was dismissed by the Kansas supreme court. The suit was brought five years ago by Fred S. Jackson, attorney general, in Shawnee county. The companies were charged with being in a combination in restraint of trade effected by the use of rating books and schedules published by Charles E. Eldridge of Topeka.

The supreme court, in ordering the suit dismissed, held that since the new insurance law gave the state the same relief which it sought by the injunction, the suit was no longer necessary. The decision of the court makes the use of the Eldridge rate books lawful, but upholds the power of the superintendent of insurance to regulate fire insurance rates and stop unreasonable increases.

Clinical Congress of Surgeons.

New York, Nov. 11.—The third annual meeting of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America opened today in the Waldorf-Astoria with about 2,000 physicians and surgeons present. Dr. Edward Martin of Chicago is presiding. Surgical clinics to the number of 995 will be held in the hospitals during the week, and all the visitors will have an opportunity to see masters of their specialties at work. For the evenings six literary sessions have been arranged, at which prominent surgeons will read papers dealing with subjects of live surgical interest.

A Suicide for Love.

St. Louis, Nov. 11.—Albert Balz, 27 years old, a high diver, wrestler and vaudeville actor, shot and killed himself here while 50 men were standing a few feet from him. In a memorandum book found in Balz's possession it was shown he was infatuated with a girl named "Josie," and that his failure to see her after making the attempt daily since September 16, caused him to become despondent.

J. A. Wayland a Suicide.

Girard, Kan., Nov. 11.—After undressing and going to bed as usual James A. Wayland, editor of the Appeal to Reason, the Socialist weekly newspaper, shot himself and died without regaining consciousness. In a book Mr. Wayland left a note which read: "The struggle under the competitive system isn't worth the effort; let it pass."

SEE VALUE OF CHEESE

AMERICAN HOUSEWIVES HAVE COME TO USE MORE OF IT.

Should Always Be Only an Accompaniment to the Meal—Innumerable Ways in Which It May Be Temptingly Prepared.

Formerly cheese only appeared on American tables in homes away from the big centers, served in small uncooked portions as an accompaniment to apple pie or doughnuts. Today American housewives are using cheese in their daily menus. They have begun to recognize its food value and also the digestibility of cooked cheese. Toasted cheese is sometimes given to children and invalids today. Formerly this would have been considered equivalent to signing a death warrant. Cheese should not be taken as an entire meal, however. It is an accompaniment to a meal. It is not wise to serve it with heavy meat dishes. It contains only 30 per cent. of water and is, therefore, a highly concentrated food. Compared with meat it contains twice the amount of solid food. Casein is the principal element of cheese, and analysis proves that it has all the fat-forming and heat-giving elements that meat has.

The grated cheese seems to go best with onion soup. A recipe for a very simple onion soup is:

Put six medium-sized minced onions into a stewpan with three ounces of melted butter, place over a slow fire and shake gently until the onions are soft and slightly browned. Add one quart of boiling water. Season with salt, pepper and nutmeg. Put two well-beaten eggs into a tureen and pour the soup, which should cook about thirty minutes, over them. When served, pass the grated Parmesan cheese in fancy cup or bowl with spoon. A little sprinkled into the soup adds greatly to its flavor.

A rich cheese bisque is made by adding one-half cupful of grated cheese to a soup made of one pint of milk and a cupful of chicken or lamb stock. Season by boiling an onion therein and thicken with flour and butter blended as for white sauce. When boiling, strain and add the cheese. Return to the fire until the cheese is melted. Have two well-beaten eggs in a bowl and pour the hot soup over these, beating to keep from curdling. Season with salt and white pepper.—Marion Herrick, in the Pittsburg Dispatch.

Lobster Buttered.

Pick the meat from a large freshly boiled lobster. Mince it finely, put into a stewpan with an ounce and a half of fresh butter rolled in flour. Stir it over a gentle fire until quite hot, then add one-eighth of a nutmeg, grated, a dessertspoonful of chili vinegar, or if this is not at hand, common vinegar may be used; three grains of cayenne with large saltspoonful of white pepper in it. Two tablespoonfuls of rich gravy are a great improvement to this dish. Stir the mixture gently over the fire until quite hot. Serve in the shell of the lobster with bread crumbs over the meat. Time to simmer, ten minutes. This recipe is sufficient for six or seven persons.

Removing Lemon Soda Stain.

Soda water leaves a stain on serge, and lemon soda on blue serge may be removed by wetting the spot with a mixture of equal parts of alcohol and ammonia. Afterward sponge gently with alcohol until the stain is removed.

Before you apply this it is a good idea to try it on a sample of goods the same as the dress, if you have it, and if you have no sample then try the mixture on some part of the gown that is inconspicuous.

The stain might be removed in another way. This is to rub with soap and apply chloride of soda, with a camel's hair brush, rinsing quickly and thoroughly.

Veal Cutlets.

A slice from the leg of veal makes the best cutlet. Fry slices of salt pork in the frying pan, take out and keep hot; dip the slices of veal into beaten egg, then in cracker crumbs; fry them about 15 or 20 minutes in the pork fat; dish the cutlets, add a little hot water or soup stock to the gravy in the pan and let it boil up. If gravy is not brown enough, add one-half teaspoon vegetable bouillon. Pour gravy around cutlets on a hot platter and garnish with the sliced salt pork. Serve grated horseradish for a relish with this dish.

Beefsteak Roll With Tomato Sauce.

When possible have the third slice of round steak, as it is most suitable for rolling. Make a dressing as for fowl, spread thickly over steak, roll and tie. After browning on all sides cook in salt and boiling water at least two hours, or until nearly tender; then turn a quart of canned tomatoes into the kettle and boil one-half hour longer. Take out meat and set where it will keep hot, strain the contents of kettle, add thickening, let boil a few minutes and pour over meat.

Spanish Rarebit.

One-half onion chopped fine and fried brown in one tablespoonful butter. Add one pound of mild cheese broken in bits and stir until melted, and then add one-half teaspoonful of mustard and salt and pepper to taste. Then add two-thirds of a cup of strained tomato and let cook a short time, stirring occasionally, and then add two well-beaten eggs, stir well and cook one minute.

SAMP AN OLD SOUTHERN DISH

Preparation of Corn That Requires Long Cooking and Watching, but Is Well Worth It

This is a preparation of corn which requires long slow cooking. Select very white and evenly-cracked samp. Wash it thoroughly and put it to soak over-night in lukewarm water. Next lay throw that water off and cover with fresh cold water; bring gradually to a boil and boil for five hours. As the water becomes absorbed add fresh boiling water from time to time. When certain the grains are tender throughout drain off any water that remains. Salt should be added with the last water poured on so that it may permeate the samp; allow one tablespoonful to one cupful of samp measured uncooked. Put the samp in a farina kettle with milk to more than cover. Let it cook gently, with the cover off, for one hour or until the milk is absorbed and the samp creamy. Add for the quantity given one tablespoonful of butter. Serve when it melts.

This is an old-fashioned southern dish easily prepared over a low fire. It can not swell properly during the cooking unless it is kept covered with boiling water.

When any is left over it may be formed into thin cakes, or sliced thin, cut in regular pieces, dipped in egg and fine cracker crumbs and baked brown in the oven. It will be found delicious.

DEVONSHIRE CREAM IS GOOD

Delicacy Not a Difficult Matter to Make, and It Is Usually Appreciated by All.

It is not a difficult matter to make this delicacy, which is always appreciated by young and old. The quantity of milk needed may seem excessive; for a pound of the cream one and one-half gallons of good milk is required, but the leftover milk may be put to many uses, and, after all, the ordinary family would be satisfied with much less.

To make this cream strain new milk into a large shallow pan until it is four or five inches deep. Leave in a cool place for twelve hours in the summer, for twenty-four hours in the winter. Do not disturb it in any way. Next carefully carry the pan to the stove and place over a pot of hot water. The heating should take at least one-half hour and the temperature should rise to 180 degrees to develop the proper flavor. It is done when the cream forms a ring around the pan and is wrinkled on the top. Let it stand twelve hours before skimming.

Sweet Green Peppers Stuffed.

Peel and cut fine enough mild onions—Bermuda or Spanish—to measure one cupful. Steam until very tender, then mix with them one cupful of fine stale bread crumbs, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of lemon juice, one-half of a half teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of mushroom catsup, two tablespoonfuls of finely chopped parsley and three tablespoonfuls of butter. Wipe six medium-sized sweet green peppers, remove the stem end of each, also the seeds and white veins. Drop in boiling water and boil for three minutes, then drain and dry them. Fill with the mixture, put close together in a shallow pan, dot with bits of butter and bake in a sharp oven until well browned. Serve on hot toast.

Russian Salad.

Mix one cup each cold cooked carrot cubes and potato cubes, one cup cold cooked peas, and one cup cold cooked beans, and marinate with French dressing. Arrange on lettuce leaves in four sections and cover each section with mayonnaise dressing. Garnish two sections with small pieces of smoked salmon, one section with finely chopped whites of hard-boiled eggs and one section with yolks of hard-boiled eggs forced through a strainer. Put small sprigs of parsley in lines dividing section. Good to look at, fine to eat, and, best of all, not much work.

Asparagus Stewed.

Cut the points as far as they are perfectly tender into pieces not more than one-half an inch in length. Wash them and throw into boiling salted water. When they are tender take out asparagus and lay aside for a few minutes. Have some pieces of toasted bread. Dip them into the water in which the asparagus was boiled. Butter them and place in dish, laying asparagus on top. Pour a little milk into saucepan. Thicken with a little flour and add a piece of butter and salt to taste. Pour the mixture over the asparagus and serve very hot.

Corn Balls.

Did you ever use the ten-minute candy rule to make corn balls? It makes splendid ones. Discard the hard corn, that did not pop out, have in big pan and pour the candy over and stir in as fast as possible. Then form in balls, but one must work very quick, else they will crisp up so one cannot handle them. Don't wet or butter the hands. It is not necessary.

To Renew Chiffon.

Spread a wet cloth over a very hot iron and hold the chiffon over the steam until it is free from wrinkles. Renew both cloth and iron as soon as the steam flows freely. Allow the chiffon to dry quickly.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Salmon Croquettes.

Pick bones and skin from one large can red salmon, add one raw egg, mix with cracker crumbs in small cakes, roll in cracker crumbs and fry in butter.—C. N. L.

MAKE HOMES PRETTIER

GOOD IDEA SOMETIMES TO TRY NEW EFFECTS.

Change in Arrangement of Furniture Frequently Will Work Wonders—"Prininess" Something That Should Be Avoided.

We will soon be putting our houses in order for the winter, and many of us are wishing we could achieve some new effects or make our homes prettier than they were last season, writes Barbara Lloyd in the Chicago Evening Post. But as we are going to use exactly the same furnishings, we feel rather hopeless as to securing any new or better results.

But we may be able to work quite a transformation simply by a change in arrangement. An interior decorator of repute has been talking lately upon the value of lines. He says no room will look its best if the lines of the furnishings all go the same way. This does not mean they should go "every which way," as old-time housekeepers used to say. But monotony should be broken.

A room in which every piece of furniture is arranged primly around the four walls will look better if a sofa is placed diagonally across a corner, or a table set at right angles to the other pieces of furniture.

Then every room ought to have a center of some sort. If there is a fireplace this naturally becomes the central point. Easy chairs are grouped about it, a table with a reading lamp, possibly a davenport.

But if there is no fireplace, and in most houses there is none, some point or some object should be made the center. It may be a desk, a table, the piano, the sofa. But easy chairs should be placed near and a reading light handy. Such a center gives a room a homelike, sociable air.

Then, too, the housekeeper who wishes to give her home a different air this fall may do so by regrouping some of the furnishings. Perhaps she can get a more harmonious color scheme by changing about some of the little fixings, such as sofa cushions, stand covers, small rugs, portieres, vases and bric-a-brac. Or she may secure a much better effect by regrouping some of her pictures. And it is just possible she may make her rooms far more harmonious and artistic by omitting altogether some of the furnishings. There may be some that jar, that do not fit into the furnishing scheme of any room. These may be the very things that have caused the dissatisfaction she has felt without exactly knowing what was the matter. Or the rooms may be overcrowded, and this may be the cause of the home's not looking as artistic and restful as she wishes.

Why not experiment along these lines when putting the house in order this fall? You may be able thereby to effect some changes that will be a delight to you all winter.

Ham Cakes.

Take pieces of boiled ham or smoked shoulder and chop fine. Boil potatoes and mash or use cold potatoes and chop. Take two-thirds of potatoes to one-third meat. Add one or two eggs (beaten), enough to make it the right consistency to shape into round flat cakes. If too moist, add a little flour. Fry in hot fat after dredging them with flour. Should be seasoned to suit taste with salt and pepper. Fish cakes, made in the same way, are very nice. This is a good way to use up pieces of meat or fish. Most all working men like them for their midday luncheon.

Peach Mound.

Pare and quarter or cut in eighths six ripe, soft peaches; soak half a box of gelatin in one pint of milk over the fire, and when it boils add one cupful of sugar and the well-beaten yolks of four eggs; stir thoroughly until it begins to thicken, then remove from the fire; add one pint of cream whipped very light and flavor with lemon. While yet a little warm, put the fruit and cream alternately in a wet mold, having a layer of cream at both the top and bottom. Set on ice or in a cold place from four to six hours and serve with sweetened whipped cream.

Mock Angel Food Cake.

Put one cup sweet milk in a pan and heat to a boiling point. Put one cup flour, one cup of sugar, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder in a pan and sift four times. Have the whites of two eggs beaten stiff, then add the hot milk, a very little salt, and one teaspoon of vanilla; beat one minute, then fold the whites of eggs in very gently. Do not stir, fold in by drawing the spoon through the mixture. Butter a pan with fresh butter and bake in a moderate oven.

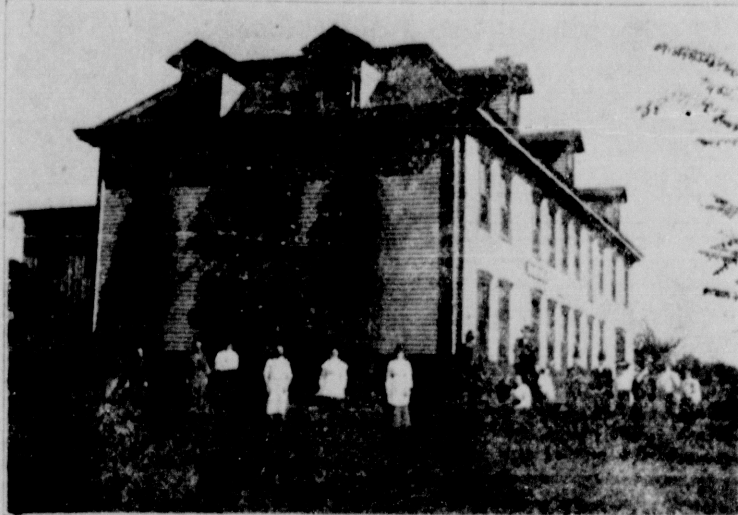

Kidney Stew.

Take kidneys and wash, then put on stove, cook slowly, then when almost done cut into small dices, put through a food chopper and add salt, pepper and make a gravy. This is fine served on toast. Kidneys make delicious stew. Cook and add onions and five or six potatoes. Thicken with a little flour. They are very nice fried, but the stew cannot be excelled.

Cheese Biscuit.

Make a biscuit dough, roll out half an inch thick. Sprinkle with grated cheese, season with salt and pepper and bits of butter; roll up jelly cake fashion, cut slices from end and bake in quick oven. Serve hot.

Hanna conducted a very interesting "Mystery Box," and Mrs. W. B. Christy and Mrs. R. S. Braniger gave excellent report of the Des Moines branch meeting at Clarinda. Mrs. W. O. Garrett presided at the piano. Rev. Gilbert S. Cox, the new pastor, was in attendance and spoke encouragingly and approvingly of the work the women are doing and made all know that he would be a helper to them. A pleasant social hour followed and luncheon was served by Mrs. Lillie Shelton, Mrs. J. C. Archer and Mrs. Wray.

Was a Delightful Evening.

Nearly the entire congregation of the First Presbyterian church spent one of the most delightful evenings the membership has ever enjoyed in the church parlors Friday evening. A program was first given in the auditorium. Mrs. Charles S. Jackson gave two piano numbers that were much appreciated, as all her piano work is. Helen Rose Crawford followed with a very sweetly sung song, and then came a silent quartette that was indeed something novel and new under the sun. Not a sound did they make, but their actions were much more effective than sounds or words would have been. Mrs. Fred Kurtz performed at the pipe organ, and the other performers were Mrs. O. L. Holmes, Mrs. L. O. Goble, Dick Hotchklin and Will G. Sawyers. They brought down the house, nearly, and they were followed by a very peculiar solo by Mrs. Goble, who did not strike a tone in unison with the piano accompaniment. But she went merrily on with it, the song was entitled "Peter Gray," and was on the order of "We're Ninety-Nine Miles From Home," and refused to respond to an encore. Mr. W. H. Crawford and Miss May Murray sang a comic duet, nicely, which ended the program. The social time that followed was great and ended with the serving of coffee, cider, pumpkin pie and doughnuts.

Married Twenty-Seven Years.

At the close of the business session of the Rebekah lodge of Wilcox last Friday night the members were most agreeably surprised by the appearance of Mr. and Mrs. James Vert, attired as a bride and groom of twenty-seven years ago. Mrs. Vert wore her wedding dress of brown silk, made in the fashion of that time, with side drape and puffs on the back of the skirt, taking eighteen yards of extra wide silk to make the dress. As one of the members played the wedding march they came in together, marching to the center of the room to the great pleasure of all present. After receiving congratulations they graciously treated all with candy. They left in a little while for their home with the best wishes of all for a long and happy life. Then some one suggested that they be serenaded. So all hastened after them, very quietly, with tin pans, cans, cow bells and a shotgun, and most anything that would make a noise. Every one was able to get to the door of the Vert home before being discovered. Then the serenade began in the good old-fashioned way. Mr. and Mrs. Vert invited all in. Mrs. Vert said if she had known they were coming she would have had ice cream and cake ready. "Time enough yet, Mrs. Vert." After chatting awhile the serenaders said good night.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Craig returned Saturday night from a few days' visit in Kansas City at the home of her son, Dr. A. S. Craig. They were accompanied home by their daughter, Mrs. C. H. Coe, and children of Tarkio, who were also visiting in Kansas City at her brother's home.

Won Prizes in Corn Contest.

Owing to an error in writing entries for the corn contest, some of the prize winners were omitted from the list as published last week. The following are the right ones in class A, white corn class: George Neff, second; Ralph Wray, third; Floyd Fakes, fourth; Earl Riggle, fifth. For the best single ear of corn, first went to Dale Thompson, second to Arthur Yates and third to George Hanna.

MISSOURI HENS MADE RECORD

EGG CONTEST JUST CLOSED WAS GREAT SUCCESS.

State Poultry Board Managing Second National Contest, to Begin November 15.

Mountain Grove, Mo., Nov. 11.—With a record of 281 eggs laid in one year a White Plymouth Rock hen in the national egg laying contest just closed here has almost equaled the North American record of 282 eggs, held by a Barred Plymouth Rock at Guelph, Canada. The hen which won first honors at Mountain Grove is owned by J. A. Bickerdike of Millersville, Ill. The prize from Missouri is $25.

The leading pen of five hens, rose comb Rhode Island Reds, owned by D. E. Hall of California, Mo., made a record of 1,042 eggs, or an average of over 208 eggs for each hen. Two silver cups and other prizes go to the leading pen.

The contest, which has just closed did much for the advancement of poultry in Missouri, the greatest hen state, and the Missouri poultry board is managing a second national contest which will begin here November 15.

There were 655 hens from all parts of the country in the contest, and they laid a total of 87,843 eggs, or an average of over 134 eggs a hen.

T. E. Quisenberry, who has charge of the poultry experiment station here, believes the egg production of Missouri and other states will be materially increased as a result of the contest.

Seven hundred hens, representing 20 varieties of poultry and gathered from England, Canada and 29 states, will compete in the next contest at Mountain Grove.

GOMPERS MADE ANNUAL ADDRESS

President Tells American Federation of Labor Los Angeles Explosion Caused Loss of Strike.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 11.—In his annual address to the American Federation of Labor, which opened its convention here today, President Samuel Gompers stated that if it had not been for the blowing up of the Los Angeles Times by the McNamara brothers and Orville McManis, the metal trades unions would have won their strike for an eight-hour day, which was in progress at the time of the dynamiting.

This was the only time that President Gompers made any direct reference to the McNamara affair, and he did not mention the trial of the 45 alleged dynamiters which is now in progress in Indianapolis and which involves the leaders of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers. He did, however, point out the things the federation had done in aid of the unions which are engaged in iron and steel work, and added that, "owing to events and incidents which cannot be recorded here at this time, a visible decline in the power of the iron and steel workers' organization ensued, particularly where the membership had been employed by the great steel corporations." He condemned the United States Steel corporation for its determination in maintaining an open shop. Mr. Gompers' address was followed by a report submitted by Secretary Morrison.

CIRCUIT CLERKS WANT REFORMS

Annual Session at Moberly Planned to Ask for Legislation Making Their Work Easier.

Fulton, Mo., Nov. 11.—The circuit clerks and recorders of Missouri completed their annual session at Moberly. The visitors were welcomed to Moberly by Mayor Cave and the response and annual address was made by J. E. Boggs of Columbia, president of the association. They were entertained with motor rides over the city.

The association will make an effort to have legislation passed this winter providing for the abolishment of marginal releases of deeds of trusts, more stringent marriage laws to act as a safeguard to the recorders, abolishment of chattel mortgage filing systems and additional fees for circuit clerks.

Farmers' Institute Workers Meet.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 11.—The Piedmont hotel was crowded today with farmers' institute workers, when the 17th annual meeting of their national association was called to order by President Franklin Dye of Trenton, N. J. Routine work took up the time of the morning session and in the afternoon special reports were received. This evening the president will present his address and a number of papers will be read and discussed. Tomorrow and Wednesday more papers will be heard, the convention being divided into groups.

Jack Johnson Still in Jail.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Attorneys for Jack Johnson, who is held in the county jail in default of a $30,000 bond on a charge of violating the Mann act, will go to the United States supreme court in an effort to obtain the release of the negro champion. The contention will be set up that the Mann act is unconstitutional.

Meningitis in Oklahoma.

Vinita, Ok., Nov. 11.—On account of three cases of spinal meningitis here, a proclamation was issued forbidding all public meetings after 10 o'clock Monday night.

WELL TO AVOID DAMPNES

One Thing About Outdoor Life That Can Not in Any Way Be Termed Beneficial.

The woman who leads an outdoor life must protect herself from dampness if she is to keep well. The mistake of the novice is trying to harden herself as no seasoned tar would attempt.

As rubbers wear out quickly when tramping have waterproof shoes that are guaranteed to shed moisture, yet are light and shapely. They come in two heights, 12 and 16 inches, or the ordinary walking shoe may be made in waterproof leather.

The woman who has once owned oilskins will never be without them. There is a feather weight grade, smooth, glossy and free from wrinkles that is made up into long coats with a warm corduroy collar; or, even smarter, come in a jacket and skirt, more convenient for use in a boat.

For the head are rubber hoods with a visor and deep collar that can be folded into pocket compass. Rather more becoming is the soft hat lined with oiled silk.

A rubber blanket that folds into a neat case is a great safeguard from dampness. It can be used when sitting on damp ground, and keeps out dampness when put over bedclothing in outdoor sleeping.

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Paper plates with roses painted thereon come with doilies and paper tablecloth to match, and are truly artistic.

To remove the odor of fish from forks, first wash the forks in hot water and then remove from the water and rub them over with a tiny piece of butter. Wash again and no odor will remain.

To clean fawn colored suede gloves put the gloves on the hands and rub them all over with a mixture of fuller's earth and alum, then brush off the powder and the gloves should look as good as new.

To renew chiffon spread a wet cloth over a very hot iron and hold the chiffon over the steamer until it is free from wrinkles. Repeat the process with another hot iron and wet cloth as soon as the steam begins to flow feebly. The chiffon should be dried quickly.

Sandwich Labels.

The clever hostess of today will let no little idea of table service escape her observing eyes if she enjoys the reputation of having things just right. Not only must she be supplied with little menu cards, place cards, tiny dinner cards, but now she must use the attractive little name cards for sandwiches.

We all know from experience that almost all dainty sandwiches look alike, so a wise brain has decided that the hostess must label her viands. For garden parties, al fresco teas, buffet breakfasts and informal veranda affairs these convenient name cards appear.

As many hostesses have the little solid silver tags into which the name of the liquor or cordial written on a card is inserted, the same tags might be utilized for the assorted sandwiches.

The English custom of labeling heavily garnished dishes might be used on some occasions by the American hostess, and she would surely be considered a most thoughtful woman.

Apple and Peach Pudding.

Take equal parts ripe sour apples and peaches and mix well; put in baking dish; to each quart fruit add pint of sugar; flavor with nutmeg; cover with a batter made by beating together one egg, one cup sweet milk, one teaspoon baking powder, one cup sugar and enough flour to make stiff batter; bake slowly until a rich brown. Serve warm with cream and sugar.

Spice Cake Without Eggs—One cup of sugar, one tablespoon of butter, one small teaspoon salt, one cup sour milk, one small teaspoon soda dissolved in it, one cup chopped raisins, two cups flour.

French Stew.

Put a little butter in a spider, slice a small onion and fry in the butter. Cut leftover turnip and carrot in fancy shapes. Put the gravy left from the roast into the spider. Cook a few minutes and strain. Now cut nice slices of the cold roast meat and put in the gravy. Cook ten minutes, add turnip and carrot and one can of peas. Pour on a platter and serve.

Chili Sauce.

Twenty-four large, ripe tomatoes; five large onions, three green peppers, all chopped fine; then add four even tablespoonfuls salt, five tablespoonfuls brown sugar, four tablespoonfuls cinnamon, two tablespoonfuls ginger, one-half tablespoon cloves, one quart vinegar. Cook one and one-half hours. Put in glass jars and seal. This is excellent.

Tomato Jelly Salad.

Follow ordinary directions for making gelatin, using one pint strained tomato to one-quarter box gelatin. Season with salt, pepper and a dash of celery salt. Cool in small loaf pan; when almost set, add one-half cupful pecan meats. Cube and serve with mayonnaise on lettuce.

Molasses Pie.

Mix one-half pint best molasses with one tablespoon of flour; add juice of one large lemon and rind and pulp chopped fine; bake with two crusts.

PLACED WAS RAIDED.

Six Were Arrested Saturday Night Charged With Gambling Over Postoffice Building.

Marshal E. C. Moberly and Night Officer Bert Mack raided a room over the postoffice Saturday night about 10 o'clock and caught six men shooting craps. Those arrested were Jim Palmer, Frank Hawkins, Cleve Cornett, Frank Scull, Bert Evans and George Greeson. Four of them were arraigned in court Monday before Mayor Robey and fined $20 and costs each. The other two Jim Palmer and Chalk Hawkins, will be arraigned later.

Marshal Moberly and his officers will try to suppress gambling in Maryville, and will exert every effort to do so.

VOTE ON SINGLE TAX AGAIN.

Is Said It Will Be Brought Up Again in Two Years.

According to information from the anti-single tax headquarters at Kansas City the single tax advocates will again attempt to have the amendment brought before the voters of Missouri at the next state election in two years. This can be done by reason of the initiative.

Misses Etta and Maud Evans were in Maryville shopping Saturday.

CHUTNEY AT ITS BEST

MANY INGREDIENTS GO TO FORM DELICIOUS DISH.

Mixture Really is Largely a Matter of Individual Taste, Though Some Staple Fruits Will Have to Be Included.

Delicious Sweet Chutney—Twelve apples, three bananas, three pears (slightly green), three quinces, twelve tomatoes (more green than ripe), eight small onions, four seeded raisins, one and a half pints vinegar, half a pint water, two cups brown sugar; spice a teaspoon of each, allspice, cloves, ginger, cinnamon, mace or vary the spices to suit the taste. Peel all the fruit and the tomatoes and put all except the bananas through the meat chopper; slice the bananas; add the vinegar, water, sugar and spice. Boil slowly for three or four hours until all are blended, then bottle. It is well to use an asbestos plate under the kettle, as it burns easily. Other fruits, such as peaches and grapes, may also be added. Firm peaches, such as "clings," are best, and grapes would have to be seeded.

English Recipe for Marmalade—Select, if possible, seedless fruit. Two dozen oranges (medium size), a dozen lemons and four grapefruit. Discard the peel from half of the oranges; cut into thin slices the peeled and the unpeeled oranges, also the grapefruit and four of the lemons, peel and all. Measure the fruit, and to each pint of fruit add a generous pint and a half of water. Set aside for 24 hours; then cook in the same water for about an hour, counting from the time it begins to boil. Set aside for another 24 hours; then boil slowly until clear. Measure, and to each quart add two and a quarter pounds of sugar. Bring to a boil and cook rapidly for about 20 minutes, stirring and skimming. Test a few drops on a cold saucer every few minutes; when it shows a tendency to jelly add the juice of the eight remaining lemons, bring to a boil and bottle. This will make firm, clear marmalade.

Candied Orange Peel—For a few days save the peel from the oranges eaten by the family. Cut in narrow strips enough to about half fill a two quart pitcher. Fill the pitcher with cold water to which has been added a teaspoon of salt. Every morning for a week drain off the water and fill with fresh water; after the first two mornings omit the salt. At the end of the week boil three cups of cane sugar with one cup of water until it strings from the spoon, then add the orange peel, already drained, and stir until it begins to sugar; turn immediately onto a large flat dish and leave to cool. It can be kept almost indefinitely in glass jars.

ADOPTION OF PHEMIE

Good Resolution of Miss Celia Bennett.

By ELLA RANDALL PEARCE.

Miss Celia Bennett looked thoughtfully after the receding form of her late caller; then a faint smile crept over her face and she nodded her head slowly.

"Praps you're right, Phebe Taggart," she reflected. "Praps I am a selfish old woman, living here alone in this big, comfortable cottage, just a-boarding my money when I might be doing good for some one. Praps it's my duty to adopt somebody—I don't know."

She sat down in a little low rocker and meditatively eyed the big gray cat that approached her in dignified fashion.

"What d'you say, Pickwick? Are we selfish—living alone together, you and I? You know it ain't just what Phebe Taggart says; but I've an inkling myself that this life is kinder aimless—and lonesome. There!"

Miss Bennett mused a while in silence.

"It's too big a responsibility, bringing up children when you don't know how. Now, grown-up boys and girls—they'd just be running away and getting married and leaving me in a little while; and old folks'd be getting sick and leaving me, too, praps. I wish Oliver'd come back! Well, if I'm to adopt somebody, there's—or, there's Phebe—Phebe Havens!"

A soft flush mounted to her cheeks and her mild blue eyes sparkled.

"I'll adopt Phebe—she's past the marrying age, and she's right companionable, Phebe is. I'll go right over and see her while the spell's on."

Phebe Havens looked up in startled surprise when her visitor made known her errand.

"Adopt me!" she faltered. "Why, Miss Bennett, I've no claim on you at all. Why should you think of such a thing?"

"Because I want to do something for somebody; and you're a good girl, Phebe. You haven't any near of kin, and you're working your eyes out and your back crooked over those little embroidered things that barely keep your soul and body together. You'll have a good home with me and I'll give you an allowance. Of course, my property goes to Oliver—you understand that—but I've got enough and to spare."

"I—I need you, Phebe. I'm awful lonesome."

Phebe's face had been settling into an expression of stern renunciation, but now it softened and dimpled into a wistful smile.

"Are you sure you need me—that I can be of real service to you?"

"Yes, I settled on you because I've known you so long and you've got such an even disposition. I wonder some good man didn't show his appreciation long ago; but I guess there's no beau around now to bother Pickwick and me, eh, Phebe?"

A slight embarrassed flush warmed Phebe's pale cheeks, but she shook her head carelessly. Miss Bennett never guessed what dreams had bloomed and faded within that quiet breast.

"Now," said the elder woman, briskly. "I'll drive over for you and your belongings Saturday. I've been wishing Oliver'd come back, but I don't suppose he ever will. He's a rover, just like his great-uncle Jason. Good boy, though; writes me and sends things from all the places he goes to. You didn't live here in Oliver's time, did you? Must be nearly of an age. Well, he's all I've got and I suppose he'll marry and settle down in some heathenish, far-away country. Now, remember, Phebe—Saturday, in time for tea."

Saturday afternoon found Miss Euphemia Havens in a state of unusual agitation. It seemed to her that she was taking a very important step, and she had dire misgivings; but, partly to conceal her dubious concern and partly in honor of the occasion—for it had been some time since she had even been invited out to tea—Phebe had put on her best gown of blue batiste and decorated her gray turban with a new pink rose. A white collar at her throat crossed with a little lace jabot. Miss Bennett had never seen her looking more animated and attractive.

As the two women descended from the carriage and walked up the gravelled path to the cottage, Pickwick came slowly to meet them; then, some one arose from the low rocker and stood on the top step leaning out between the honeysuckle vines—a broad masculine figure with a big Panama hat swinging in one hand and a genial smile of greeting on his bronze face.

"Hello, Aunt Celia!" boomed out a hearty voice. "Don't you know me?"

"Why—ee, it's Oliver! Oh, Phebe, it's my nephew. This is Miss Havens, Oliver. She—she—"

"I've come to stay awhile with Miss Bennett," interposed Phebe, quietly, her cheeks deep-flushed and her eyes downcast.

"And I've come to stay for good," said Oliver Bennett, decisively. "Yes, sir—ee! Going to quit my roving and settle down now. Aunt Celia, ain't you glad?"

Phebe sat alone in her room a few minutes later. Her worst fears were realized; she had indeed made a great mistake. Not only was she not needed now in Miss Bennett's home, but her presence would be undesirable. And, when the elder woman had told her story, what would this stranger think of her acceptance of his aunt's bounty? How might he misconstrue her motives? Well, she would have to stay awhile and see what happened.

What happened was that Oliver Bennett took complete possession of the little cottage and its gentle occupants. Never before had their lives been so full, so gay, so interesting. When they were not "faring forth on pleasure bent," he was telling them vivid tales of the strange places and people he had seen and the wonders of his travels.

Phebe thought it was the excitement of these stories of adventure that made her heart beat faster when in the presence of this fascinating newcomer. At no time, however, could she overcome the feeling she had that he secretly resented her coming to the house.

Sometimes she caught him looking at her in a way she could not understand. He seemed to be probing beneath the surface of her social manners and questioning her inner self. At such times she felt almost guilty.

The climax came on Saturday evening, just three weeks after Phebe's arrival. She was coming in through the rear doorway when a bass voice drifted down the hall from the piazza where Miss Bennett and her nephew were sitting.

"But, Aunt Celia, this talk of adoption is nonsense. You don't want her to stay here with you after all I've said! I'll speak to her tonight, myself."

Poor Phebe grasped the railing with trembling fingers and the hot tears gushed to her eyes. The blow had fallen—this was the end! Oliver Bennett himself had pronounced her sentence. Well, she would not wait for him to speak to her. She would escape such humiliation.

Quickly her small trunk was packed and preparations made for a hasty departure. She wrote a brief note to Miss Bennett, and, fastening on her gray turban and cape, stole down the rear stairway again, out into the shadows of the summer night.

Tears blinded her so she could not see the obstacle in the path against which her flying feet carried her. A pair of stalwart arms caught her as she staggered from the impact.

"Ginger! Running me down, eh?" cried a masculine voice. "What's your hurry? Why, Miss Havens, what's the matter? Wait, wait, little woman, you can't run away from me like this. There's something in the wind, and I'm going to know about it."

"You can't," sobbed Phebe, wildly struggling to escape. "Let me go—I'm going away. I knew I'd be misunderstood! You—you don't have to advise her not to adopt me. Oh, please, please let me go!"

Oliver Bennett's wits were working quickly. He drew the trembling figure he held to a nearby seat and spoke soothingly, but firmly.

"Miss Havens—Phebe Havens—listen to me. You didn't hear all I said. I told my aunt she shouldn't keep you here because I—I wanted to adopt you myself! There, the cat's out of the bag. You're the finest little woman I've ever seen, to my notion, and I'm going to marry you if you'll have me. I was waiting for a chance to tell you, but, of course, if you want to run away—if you want to go—now—Phebe, you go right along and I'll live here with Aunt Celia and Pickwick."

He opened his arms wide, and Phebe—well, after an instant of dazed silence, Phebe just gave a happy, fluttering, long-drawn sigh and settled back without a thought of the new pink rose on her turban.

"I—I guess I'll stay—Oliver!" (Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.)

The Night of Gasoline.
"Ask me to go to the theater any night in the week except gasoline night and I'll go," said the man.

"What night is that?" the woman asked.

"Saturday. Women get their gloves home from the cleaners on Saturday or else clean them themselves the last of the week, and the gasoline fumes haven't had time to evaporate. Half the women you meet in a crowd on Saturday night carry a gasoline odor about on their gloves. In a hot, stuffy place, that is pretty bad. On Monday night gasoline still perfumes the air, but it is getting faint and I can stand it, but not on Saturday."

Hated to Encourage It.
"Can you direct me to the nearest hotel?" asked the stranger.

"Yes," replied the old inhabitant, "I can, but I hate to do it."

"Why so?"

"It's one of those new-fangled places where you've got to take a bath along with your room, even if you only expect to stay three or four days."

PAIN IN THE ROYAL NOTICE

Composer Had Occasion to Remember Former Time That Maria Theresa Honored Him.

An amusing incident of the healthy boyhood of the great composer, Joseph Haydn, is given by Mary Maxwell Moffat in her biography of the Austrian empress, Maria Theresa.

When von Reutter became choirmaster of St. Stephen's cathedral he had Joseph Haydn among his pupils.

During a visit to the Hungarian Prince Esterhazy, in 1773, Maria Theresa took occasion to say a word of praise to Haydn, who had composed the music of the opera given in her honor, and had conducted the performance. She expressed the conviction that she had seen him before, although she could not remember the occasion.

"The last time your majesty was pleased to take notice of me," said Haydn, "you ordered me a good thrashing."

"That does not sound like me," rejoined the empress. "How did it happen?"

Then Haydn told of a Whitsuntide when, with other pupils of von Reutter, he had been brought to Schoenbrunn to sing in the chapel. Between the services the boys took to clambering over the scaffolding of the new wings of the palace. The empress caught sight of them, and sent word forbidding the dangerous sport. But the attraction of the scaffolding was irresistible; on the following day the boys were again risking their necks.

When Maria Theresa expostulated with von Reutter, his surmise that the ringleader was "that young scamp, Joseph Haydn," led her to suggest that the rod be used to improve his memory.—Youth's Companion.

BEST EXERCISE FOR WOMEN

Popularity of Fencing Justified in Results That Follow Its Persistent Practice.

Fencing is always popular with women who have the leisure and the opportunity to go through with the required training, and lately it has become even more the fashion with women prominent in society. Even during the summer, while they were away at their country or seaside homes, many women kept up their fencing lessons, having the instructor come to their homes for the purpose.

All experts in physical training rate fencing as the best possible means of exercise for women. It ranks with swimming and rowing in that it gives all the development needed without making the muscles too heavy, as do some of the other sports. For the woman of today who longs above everything else to be slender and supple, it is the ideal exercise. Those women who are so faithful to their fencing lessons have discovered that a brisk half hour with the foils is more effective in keeping their figures girlishly lithe and slender than a half day spent at heavier and less graceful forms of exercise.

Work of Chemical Engineer.

Great is the debt that the new south owes to the chemical engineer, whose contributions are enumerated by a writer: "The utilization of the formerly wasted cotton seed in oil making and the employment of the pressed hulls as a cattle feed; the production of glycerin from cotton seed oil; the use of the vast clay and shale beds in brick and tile manufacture; and the opening up of deposits of phosphates and phosphate rock that yield commercial fertilizers. Through his experiments and advice the pine forests formerly destroyed in obtaining turpentine may now be saved, while lumber, as it has been pointed out that turpentine can be obtained from waste sawdust slabs and old trees or stumps cut down or blown down by storms. High grade oak ties for railroad use may be made to last longer than before and low grade lumber (such as loblolly pine) can be made as efficient as untreated oak by simply impregnating the timber with creosote oil, and it is now a thriving industry throughout the south."

"Going Out to See a Man."

Artemus Ward, about half through his lecture, announced a recess for fifteen minutes, so as to go out and "see a man." H. R. Tracey, a Washington editor, seeing an opportunity to improve upon the joke, sent these lines to the platform:

"Dear Artemus: If you will place yourself under my guidance, I'll take you to 'see a man,' without crossing the street."

A restaurant keeper at that time in Washington was named Aman, to whom Ward was taken, and found Aman luxuriating at the well-laden refreshment board. Everybody "caught on" to the phrase, and, getting up between the acts and "going out to see Aman" became contagious.

Oyster Can Change Its Sex.

At the Academy of Science in Paris recently Edmund Perrier, director of the Museum of Natural History, submitted a series of singular researches by M. Danton, who has discovered that the sex of an oyster often varies in the same subject without apparent cause.

Another fact ascertained by M. Danton is the triumph of femininity among oysters, the male being the inferior and weaker sex, and as food conditions change for the better or worse, they transform themselves from one sex to the other.

MORE ABOUT LONDON

J. B. DUNCAN SEES A DECLINE IN BRITISH NOBILITY.

SEES THE ROYAL CARRIAGE

Thinks the Big Nations Ought to Keep Hands Off in Balkan War and Let Little Fellows Fight It Out.

London, England, August 24, 1912.—Since I wrote my last letter home I have visited a few noted places in and around London, as many as the limited time at my disposal and the depleted condition of the exchequer would permit.

One of the places most frequently visited by tourists when in England is the old tower, which, I believe is the only fortress in the city. I was told that it contains barracks for several thousand soldiers, a strong box for the safe keeping of the royal jewels, and there may still be seen the traitors' gate through which Raleigh and Sydney entered on the way to their death and just opposite to this entrance the bloody tower, the scene of so many brutal murders, at least it seems so to us living in a more refined and cultivated age; and yet, notwithstanding the fact that we have been surrounded for centuries by the ameliorating influences of a supposedly better civilization, there is, after all, but a step back to the savagery of these olden times. These old English were certainly most prodigal of human life when such lives as Raleigh's and Sydney's could be destroyed upon such slight pretexts.

St. Paul's cathedral and Westminster Abbey should not be omitted from the list of any well planned entourage about London; but, as I am not skilled in ability to describe architecture, a thing attempted by most writers, I will omit all efforts in that direction further than to say that these grand old piles surpass everything to which my vocabulary is adequate. At some other time I will tell you about some of the things I saw in old Westminster.

In the moving picture show that now moves instead of "hangs on memory's walls," Windsor castle emerges rapidly into view before the mind's eye.

This is one of the chief places of residence in the English sovereigns, located in the town of Windsor about twenty miles from London on the river Thames, a place beautiful in architecture, surrounded with most attractive shrubbery, splendid driveways and flowerbeds well cared for.

A picture of Buckingham place, the city residence of England's superfluous royalty, comes next to view. I would, I could describe it right, but I can't. I do know this, however, that although George and his frow were there at the time of my visit, I did not have an introduction nor did I see them except at a distance as the royal cortege passed rapidly through the gates taking their constitutional. I wonder what earthly use these enlightened, up-to-date English people have for them; and yet they seem to like them, judging from the crowds that try to see every time they go beyond the confines of their palace walls. If we would guard our fellows as well as the English do George and his wife they might not get shot up so much.

I didn't send in my card, and doubt if I should have been invited to dine with the royal pair if I had.

I don't think George and Mary are worth half as much to the British Empire as Asquith or Lloyd George—the latter reminds me, in appearance and character of our own Justice Hughes, former governor of New York.

The nobility of England seems to be rapidly falling into a state of innocuous desuetude, and would have, ere this, been a thing of the past, were it not that the people of England seem to cling to their traditional ideas with a sort of fatuous regard.

Just now the big powers—England, France, Australia, Germany, et al. are much disturbed over the balkan trouble with the Turks. When Asquith asked me what I thought about it, I told him that my advice is to keep hands off and let the Greeks, Bulgars, Romanians and others whip thunder out of the sick man of Europe. I don't know whether he'll take my advice or not. I am afraid the pressure will be too strong for him—there are some pretty good pickins for some of these big powers around Constantinople—let 'em fight—it will give Moody a good market for his stuff, if Moody gets in as I think he will—but I must quit for the nonce. Will see you later.

TAFT GIVES THANKS.

President Issues Proclamation Designating November 28 as Thanksgiving Day.

President Taft Thursday issued a proclamation setting aside Nov. 28 as Thanksgiving day.

The proclamation follows: By the president of the United States of America:

A God-fearing nation like ours owes it to its inborn and sincere sense of moral duty to testify its devout gratitude to the All-Giver for the countless benefits it has enjoyed. For many years it has been customary at the close of the year for the national executive to call upon his fellow countrymen to offer praise and thanks to God for the manifold blessings vouchsafed to them in the past and to unite in earnest supplication for their continuance.

The year now drawing to a close has been notably favorable to our fortune land. At peace within and without, free from the perturbations and calamities that have afflicted other peoples, rich in harvests so abundant and in industries so productive that the overflow of our prosperity has advantaged the whole world, strong in the steadfast conservation of the heritage of self-government bequeathed to us by the wisdom of our fathers, and firm in the resolve to transmit that heritage, unimpaired but rather improved by good use, to our children and our children's children for all time to come, the people of this country have abounding cause for contented gratitude.

Wherefore, I, William Howard Taft, president of the United States of America, in pursuance to long established usage and response to the wish of the American people, invite my countrymen wheresoever they may sojourn, to join, on Thursday, the 28th day of this month of November, in appropriate ascription of praise and thanks to God for the good gifts that have been our portion and in humble prayer that His great mercies toward us may endure.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this 7th day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred twelve, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-seventh.

WILLIAM H. TAFT.

By the president: Alvey A. Adee, acting secretary of state.

PROFIT IS DOUBLED

EXPERIMENTS IN CHICKEN CULTURE HAVE HAD THAT EFFECT.

AVERAGE 134 EGGS A YEAR

In Egg Laying Contest 655 Hens Made That Record as Compared With 80 Eggs the Country Over.

With a record of 281 eggs laid in one year a White Plymouth Rock hen in the national egg laying contest just closed at Mountain Grove, Mo., has almost equaled the North American record of 282 eggs, held by a Barred Plymouth Rock at Guelph, Canada. The hen which won first honors at Mountain Grove is owned by J. A. Bickerdike of Millersville, Ill. The prize from Missouri is $25.

The leading pen of five hens, rose comb Rhode Island Rpsds, owned by D. E. Hall of California, Mo., made a record of 1,042 eggs, or an average of over 208 eggs for each hen. Two silver cups and other prizes go to the leading pen.

The contest, which closed November 1, has done much for the advancement of poultry in Missouri, the greatest hen state, and the Missouri poultry board is managing a second national contest, which will begin here November 15.

There were 655 hens from all parts of the country in the contest, and they laid a total of 87,843 eggs, or an average of over 134 eggs a hen.

T. E. Quisenberry, who has charge of the poultry experiment station here, believes the egg production of Missouri and other states will be materially increased as a result of the contests. "We feel that the showing has been satisfactory," Mr. Quisenberry said today, "considering that more than half the birds entered for the first year were carelessly and promiscuously bred, some too young, some too old. In contrast with our average egg record of 134 eggs is the record of only eighty eggs a year per hen the country over. That shows what proper feed, housing and care will do."

"We must turn our attention in this country to the egg laying strain of poultry. Strain rather than variety is what counts in egg production we have found in this contest. Australia is far in advance of the breeders of this country in breeding for egg production. "The leading pen in this contest averaged more than 208 eggs a hen, but the leading pen in an Australian contest which recently closed averaged more than 250 eggs a hen. Also, in the same Australian contest 360 hens gathered from sixty different breeders made an average of nearly two hundred eggs a hen for the entire 360 hens. But they have been conducting these contests in that country for ten years or longer and the people have been educated to breed for egg production. We hope to stimulate some such effort in this country. If we can even raise the average to 150 or 160 eggs a hen in this country, we can more than double or treble the profit in poultry to the average breeder, for he can get this increase in most cases without little if any additional cost for houses, feed and stock."

The second best pen record in the contest was made by five White Wyandottes owned by P. J. Jansen of Little Rock, Ark. The hens laid 1,915 eggs. A pen of single comb White Leghorns owned by Walter Hogan of Petaluma, Cal., was third with an egg production of 991 eggs for the year. Fourth honors went to five Barred Plymouth Rocks owned by the Brooks Sanitary Hennyery at Morgan Park, Ill. The hens laid 967 eggs in the twelve months.

The second prize for individual egg production went to D. E. Hall of California, Mo., whose rose comb Rhode Island Red hen laid 255 eggs in the year. A Barred Plymouth Rock owned by M. W. Baldwin of Sioux City, Ia., took third honors with a record of 245 eggs.

Seven hundred hens, representing twenty varieties of poultry and gathered from England, Canada and twenty states, will compete in the next contest at Mountain Grove. The following varieties will be represented by thirty hens each, all having exactly the same number of pens: Anconas, Black Langshans, S. C. White Leghorns, R. C. White Leghorns, S. C. Brown Leghorns, S. C. Buff Leghorns, Black Minorcas, Buff Orpingtons, White Orpingtons, Black Orpingtons, Barred Plymouth Rocks, Buff Plymouth Rocks, Partridge Plymouth Rocks, White Plymouth Rocks, S. C. Rhode Island Reds, R. C. Rhode Island Reds, Buff Wyandottes, Silver Wyandottes,

Partridge Wyandottes and White Wyandottes. All pens were filled thirty days before the second contest was scheduled to begin and more than fifty entries had to be returned.—Kansas City Star.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE IN 1914.

Amendment Will Probably Be Submitted in This State at That Time.

Letters are being sent out from the Missouri Equal Suffrage Association headquarters in St. Louis, which show that the women in charge have been so much encouraged by the result of equal suffrage amendments in other states this year that they will try it in Missouri in 1914.

Mrs. George Gellhorns, the president, says in a letter to the Daily Democrat-Forum:

"The legislature convenes in January, 1913, when we propose to submit a suffrage amendment. We believe the legislature will give this favorable consideration if there are enough people in the state demand it. Little attention will be paid if the demand comes only from Kansas City and St. Louis, for it is a well known fact, proven again in our primaries, that the country holds the balance of power politically in Missouri. If the legislature passes this suffrage before the votes of the state in November, 1914. Should they fail to pass it we will submit an initiative petition in January, 1914, to be voted on in November, 1914. You can easily see that the former method is the most desirable."

Mrs. Gellhorns says the women have been making a study of suffrage sentiment in the state for the past eighteen months and have concluded that the time is ripe to make a determined campaign.

WON IN BASKET BALL.

Normal Team Beat Rosendale High School Friday Afternoon.

The basket ball game Friday afternoon between the Rosendale high school team and the Normal five resulted in a lopsided victory of 63 to 14 for the Normal. But the score doesn't tell the true story, for while the high school chaps were clearly outclassed by their large and more experienced opponents, they put up a stubborn fight, and at times played brilliant team work.

Cap. Vandersloot of the locals had his old-time eye for baskets. He garnered thirteen goals from the field and a free throw.

Estes, the tow-headed Rosendale forward, shot three field goals. The line-up:

Summary—Field goals, Vandersloot 13, Daise 5, Perrin 3, Taylor 4, Seymour 5, Estes 3, Wright, Chatman.

A preliminary contest was staged by the Bull Mooses of the Normal and the Business college quintet. The collegians won, 15 to 10.

Cut Quite a Gash on His Forehead.

Douglas, the two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wells, fell on the basement steps in the Alderman Dry Goods store in Maryville Saturday and cut quite a gash on his forehead. Mrs. Wells, Misses Dode Albright and Alma Rodman were going down into the basement and Mrs. Wells tripped, letting the little boy fall. Drs. Leslie Dean and Will Wallis, Jr., were called and found that his forehead was cut to the bone and it was necessary to take five stitches.—Skidmore News Era.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Turpin and son of Rea, Mo., who have been visiting Mr. Turpin's cousin, Mrs. Solon Clark, during the teachers' meeting, returned home Saturday. Mr. Turpin is the principal and Mrs. Turpin a grade teacher of the schools at Rea.

Prof. V. I. Moore returned Saturday morning from Tarkio where he was called Friday to act as an official in the Tarkio-Missouri Wesleyan football game. Missouri Wesleyan won, 6 to 5.

Mrs. T. Hanna and sons, George and Floyd Hanna, of Bolckow, came Thursday to visit Mrs. J. C. Farrar, north of Maryville, during the corn contest at the teachers' meeting.

Professor and Mrs. W. R. Lowrey and baby boy, who have been attending the teachers' meeting, returned to their home in Hopkins Saturday noon.

GAVE HER OVATION

MISS MILDRED MORRISON RECEIVED WITH FAVOR HERE.

IT WAS HER HOMECOMING

The Entire Company Pleased the Audience Which Could Find no Flaws in the Entire Program.

Maryville heard real music at the First M. E. church Saturday night, when "The University Girls" appeared in the opening number of the State Normal lecture course. A splendid audience was out to hear them, and if this first evening is a criterion of what is to follow this winter, Maryville has some extraordinary things in store for her.

The fact that Miss Mildred Morrison, a Maryville girl, is a member of the company added to the interest of the appearance of this concert company, and the ovation she received when she stepped out to give her first solo was a credit to the audience as well as a compliment to the singer. When she concluded singing the two ballads, two armfuls of pink chrysanthemums and pink roses were given to her, and she responded to two encores. It was plain to be seen that Miss Morrison was much affected by her reception, and the members of the company took pride in it. Miss Morrison's voice has improved in quality and power, and retains the bird-like sweetness and lightness and purity that has always characterized her singing.

The program was well selected and showed a wide range of ability for each member of the company. They are genuine artists and this, added to the distinguished and beautiful personal appearance that each possesses, makes a delightful evening for an audience with them. The young women represent five colleges and universities in five states. They are Miss Mildred Morrison, soloist; Miss Dollie McDonnell of Michigan, who was the inimitable reader; Miss Linda Mohrman, director and violinist; Miss Helen Gould, clarinetist; Miss Nora Brownlee of Pennsylvania, slide trombone; Miss Faye Palmer of Iowa, pianist.

Miss Morrison was the guest of Dean and Mrs. G. H. Colbert while in the city. The company left Sunday on the 10:52 Wabash train for Oklahoma City, where they will appear Monday night, and will make other Oklahoma points. They will then go to Texas and make several gulf cities, and the month of December will be spent in Florida. The week of Christmas will be a holiday week with them, which they will spend at Tampa. They will resume their tour along the Atlantic coast, ending their engagement in New England in April.

While in Maryville Miss Gould, the clarinetist, received an offer from the Boston Ladies' orchestra, the finest woman's musical organization in the country, to meet them in Boston next summer for an engagement, and to name her salary.

Miss Morrison spent the past season in Chautauqua work.

Card of Thanks.

The committee on securing boarding places for teachers at the Teachers' association desires to express its thanks and appreciation for the liberal response made by the citizens of Maryville to care for teachers while here. We were not able to fill all the places reported to us, as a large per cent of the teachers had written to persons whom they knew and engaged board and rooms before coming to Maryville.

PAROLE DOCKET UP DON'T BLAME BOY

SEVERAL CASES CONTINUED AND OTHERS WERE DISMISSED.

YOUNGER CASES HEARD MOST IMPORTANT MEET

Decree For Plaintiff in One While Another Was Taken Under Advice—Sale in Hoshor Suit.

Circuit court met in regular session Monday with Judge W. C. Ellison on the bench.

The case of Rockwell Bros. vs. Joseph Younger et al. was heard before the court and a decree was given finding for the plaintiff. This suit is one of those Elmo cases and was to cancel a deed that Younger had given. The property involved is the home property of Younger, and Rockwell Bros. obtained the property under a sheriff's sale, but a deed before that had been given by Younger transferring it to the Elmo Improvement and Business company.

Another Younger case taken up was that of O. A. Simmons vs. the Elmo Improvement and Business company, George B. Baker, Coin Lumber Co., Rockwell Bros., F. M. Dunham & Co., McCall & Sawyers et al. The purpose of this suit is to combine all of the suits against Younger in one suit and to have the several causes of action in one suit. But the attorneys for the defendants are fighting this and say that each suit must be separate.

Several decisions and opinions were read to the court, but the court took the matter under advisement.

Grover Manley, charged with disturbing the peace, was fined $5 and costs.

The parole docket was taken up Monday morning and the following cases were continued: Oscar Cussins, E. C. Estes, Wood Gauding W. E. Wallace, Bunk Edmiston was discharged as to his parole, so was Walter Clemmens and W. E. Wallace on six cases.

The case of John L. Hoshor vs. Otis Hoshor et al., partition, cause submitted to the court and evidence heard and decree in partition by sale by sheriff.

Wm. Akin vs. Hannah Akin to cancel deed, a decree was given for the plaintiff.

Emma E. Eckles et al. vs. Glen L. Eckles, partition, M. E. Ford was appointed guardian ad litem of Glen Eckles. The cause was submitted to court and evidence heard and finding and decree as per forma filed.

DR. MURPHY SAYS SCHOOL CURRICULUM IS WRONG.

Greatest Educational Gathering Ever Held in Northwest Missouri—To Be Yearly Affair.

"I don't blame the boy for quitting school," was the somewhat startling statement made by Dr. Frank M. McMurry of Columbia university, New York, in his address before the Teachers' association Saturday afternoon, "and it is all the fault of the curriculum."

To retain the interest of the pupils those subjects must be included in the school curriculum that will be of future value to the students, Dr. McMurry thinks.

Dr. McMurry illustrated his different points by telling the audience of personal experiences that he had had in the classroom.

Following Dr. McMurry's address, which was the closing one of meeting the prizes for the domestic science and corn contests were awarded. Miss Hettie M. Anthony of the Normal department of home economics awarded the domestic science prizes, and the awards for the corn contest were made by Prof. John E. Cameron.

Without doubt the Joint Teachers association which closed Saturday was the most important educational meeting ever held in Northwest Missouri. As was stated in Saturday's issue of The Democrat-Forum the association was made a permanent affair, and the next meeting will be held in this city a year hence.

DR. SAMUEL DUNN IS DEAD.

Passed Away Sunday at the Home of His Daughter, Mrs. Irvin Matthews of Tarkio.

Dr. Samuel M. Dunn, for many years a practicing physician of Nodaway county, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Irvin Matthews of Tarkio, Sunday afternoon after a few days' slight illness.

The funeral services will take place at Rock Port Tuesday. Dr. J. A. Bickett of this city, whose wife was a sister of Dr. Dunn, received the announcement of the death of his brother-in-law Monday morning. He expects to attend the funeral services at Rock Port Tuesday, accompanied by his granddaughter, Miss Orlena Helpy.

Dr. Dunn was 82 years of age July 30. He visited in Maryville last summer at the home of his niece, Mrs. Wm. Helpy, and seemed to be enjoying the best of health. He came to Maryville from Ponca City, Okla., where he had been living since he left Maryville, about twenty years ago. He is survived by his second wife and their daughter, Bessie. The children surviving of his first marriage are Joseph Dunn of Topeka, Kan., and Cora, now Mrs. Irvin Matthews of Tarkio. Another son, Dr. Arthur C. Dunn, died very suddenly last summer at his home at Byron, Neb., where he had practiced medicine for a good many years and was the postmaster at the time of his death. His burial took place at Rock Port. Another daughter, Nannie Dunn, married James Sherman, a resident of Maryville, and her death occurred at Coin, Ia., where the family moved in later years.

Dr. Dunn was a member of a family of considerable prominence in Jasper county, Indiana. His parents moved to Iroquois county, Illinois, while he was young and he spent his early days on a farm. His father was a physician and his son began the study of medicine in early boyhood with his father as teacher. In 1852 young Dr. Dunn moved to Polk county, Iowa, and settled in Carlisle. The following year he went to Decatur county, Iowa, and while living there he was elected clerk of the circuit court, holding the office for four years. He attended medical lectures at Rush Medical college in Chicago and was graduated in 1862. In 1863 Dr. Dunn located in Maryville, where he had a large practice up to the time he went to Oklahoma. While living in Maryville he was a member of the faculty of the Northwestern Medical college at St. Joseph. He was married in 1853 to Miss Nancy J. Harrah of Decatur county, Iowa. Her death occurred in Maryville many years ago.

Miss Lavisa Swinford and Miss Maud Helpy went to Pickering Thursday to visit Miss Lavisa's sister, Miss Pearl Berry.

CHOLERA SPREADING RAPIDLY

Lack of Sanitary Arrangements or Proper Food Puts Constantinople
at Mercy of Plague—Six Great Powers Near Agreement.

London, Nov. 11.—The Bulgarian attack on the Tchatalja lines goes on unrelentingly. According to a correspondent at the front, further Turkish positions have been captured, but their location has not been indicated, in accordance with the invariable Bulgarian plan never to reveal information to the enemy.

There is another unconfirmed report that Monastir has been captured, this and the capture of Dibra, an important town in Albania, by the Serbians, after heavy fighting, constitute all the military news of importance since Saturday.

War a Bloody Affair.

Some idea of the bloody nature of the war may be formed from the fact it is now estimated that 150,000 men have been put out of action on both sides since the opening of hostilities. The Turkish government clearly has little hope of holding the Tchatalja lines.

There is no confirmation of the report that the Turkish government has opened direct negotiations with the allies. Turkey's immediate object appears to be to gain time, hoping to gain advantage through a row among great powers.

Arms Being Confiscated.

Constantinople, Nov. 11.—Among the measures to prevent an outbreak of disorders, the government has closed all the unionist clubs and has ordered the disarmament of all classes of the population. Guns, pistols, swords and daggers are confiscated wherever discovered. Even refugees are compelled to surrender any weapons in their possession and carloads of miscellaneous articles of a deadly nature are daily brought to the ministry of war.

The outbreak of cholera is assuming severe proportions. Twenty-three cases have occurred among the troops.

Powers May Agree.

Paris, Nov. 11.—The great powers, Great Britain, France and Russia, constituting the triple entente, and Germany, Austria and Italy, the triple alliance, are believed to be at the point of reaching an agreement to prevent the Bulgarian army from occupying Constantinople. The six governments find themselves in accord on the principle, and active exchanges are in progress as to the means to be taken to bring about this result.

URGES SMALL TOWN LIBRARIES

Kansas Library Association Wants
Legislation to Provide More
Books for Villages.

Manhattan, Kan., Nov. 11.—Every little town in Kansas and every little cross-roads community might have books to read if the state could be induced to do its duty. In the opinion of the librarians who assembled in Manhattan last week this duty consists in urging the legislature to create a traveling libraries commission. The commission should have authority to employ a library visitor or organizer and the legislature should make an appropriation of $2,000 a year to pay for his services.

The librarians, constituting the Kansas Library association, adopted a resolution embodying those suggestions and ordered that every member of the legislature have a copy.

Uncle Sam Oil Company Must Try
Again for Indian Leases in Oklahoma.

Washington, Nov. 11.—At a hearing in the White House late in the afternoon President Taft sustained the action of the department of the interior in canceling leases entered into by the tribal council of the five civilized tribes of Indians with the Uncle Sam Oil company of Oklahoma, for several hundred thousand acres of oil land owned by the Indians.

The oil company appealed the case to the president. The Secretary of the Interior Walter Fisher, said after the hearing that bids for leases of the same land in smaller quantities than those made out to the Uncle Sam company would be opened in Oklahoma next week.

Killed While Hunting.

Wichita, Kan., Nov. 11.—Carl Lichenberger, 13 years old, was shot and killed while hunting on the Little Arkansas river. A bullet from a .22 caliber rifle entered his left arm and passing through, cut a blood vessel near his heart. Lloyd Brummit, 16 years old, and Will Griswold, 15 years old, who were shooting at a mark on the other side of the river, heard Lichenberger scream and believing a bullet from their rifle had struck him, waded the river and found him unconscious. It is not known which of the boys shot him.

WARDEN'S LIFE IS THREATENED

MICHIGAN PENITENTIARY A HOT-BED OF MUTINY.

Trusty Tells of Plot Against Officials
—Close Watch Necessary to Avoid Further Fires.

Jackson, Mich., Nov. 11.—The life of Warden Simpson of the state penitentiary has been threatened by convicts since the removal of several prisoners to Detroit. A trusty prisoner told one of the prison officials of the plot.

It is believed detectives still are at work in the institution and that the alleged plot to kill the warden will be exposed and the leaders removed to some other penal institution.

Meanwhile Warden Simpson goes in and out of the yards unaccompanied, but not without having a loaded revolver in his pocket. The warden formerly was a military man and is considered a good shot.

Close watch is being kept in the prison to see that no more fires are set. The most dangerous place in the institution is the hospital, which is on the fourth floor. It always has been considered a trap.

"As to how deep a plot has been laid for the killing of the warden I am unable to say," a prison official said. "But I have heard that there are men in the prison who have sworn they would kill the warden if they never lived to do another thing. It is my understanding the prisoners who seek to slay the warden are serving time for murder, and now figure that inasmuch as capital punishment is not in vogue in this state that they could not be given anything worse than they are receiving now."

"If such a plot is carried out the deed will not be done openly. Guns have been smuggled into the prison before now, and it is easy enough to do it again. A loaded revolver could be thrown over the wall any night. The shooting would doubtless be done from ambush with a silencer attached that would be difficult to tell whence the shot was fired."

KANSAS FREIGHT RATES LOWER

Public Utilities Commission Orders
Railroads to Establish New Tariffs
Favoring Shippers.

Topeka, Nov. 11.—The Kansas public utilities commission made an order of great importance to the livestock, grain and natural products shippers of the state because of marked rate reductions. The commission has required all the Kansas railroads to establish joint rates on all the lines of the state.

Heretofore the rates over two lines have been the sum of the local rates except in a few cases where joint through rates have been voluntarily established by action of the lines themselves. This basis made it impossible to ship livestock, grain or other commodities over two lines.

The new rates will vary from 80 to 85 per cent of the sum of the local rates.

Oliver of Caruthersville, Mo., is commander. One of the companies will be organized in Sedalia. ANTI-TRUST CASES WILL BE RUSHED

Pending Prosecutions to be Ready if Possible by March 4.

IMPORTANT POINTS INVOLVED

Rights of "Middlemen" in Commerce
Will Depend on Outcome of Lumber
Suit—Shoe Machinery
Case Goes Over.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The department of justice is making a strenuous effort to push as close to conclusion as possible the pending anti-trust prosecutions for President-Elect Wilson and his attorney general when they take the oath of office on March 4. The taking of testimony in most of the suits will have been completed, it is believed, and the cases will be before the courts for decision before the present administration expires.

While the issues have been joined in the two biggest pending cases—the suits against the steel and harvester "trusts"—it is not thought they will be ready for decision by March 4. The steel suit probably will extend well into the new administration, but officials foresee the end of the testimony and arguments in the harvester case by April or May.

Hard Coal and Cotton First.

Several of the suits against retail lumber dealers' associations, regarded as among the most important cases because they involve the extent of the rights of "middlemen" in commerce, will in all probability be ready for determination before President Taft retires.

It is believed the United States supreme court is now ready to render its opinion in the "hard coal" suits and the "cotton corner" suit.

While the taking of testimony in the civil suit for the dissolution of the American Sugar Refining company is approaching conclusion, it is reported that Attorney General Wickersham will not retry the criminal sugar case which resulted in a disagreement of the jury.

Many Will Not be Ready.

The cases against the Keystone Watch Case company, the magazine trust and the Trans-Atlantic steamship "pool," according to expectations, will be in the hands of judges by inauguration day.

Among the important issues which likely will go over into the Wilson administration for final preparation for the courts are the cases against the National Cash Register company, the "Motion picture trust," several alleged steamship "pools," and the United Shoe Machinery company.

KANSAS INSURANCE SUIT ENDED

Litigation Started Five Years Ago
Over Use of Rate Books Dismissed
by Supreme Court.

Topeka, Nov. 11.—The long drawn out case brought by the state against the Aetna Fire Insurance company and 75 other fire insurance companies was dismissed by the Kansas supreme court. The suit was brought five years ago by Fred S. Jackson, attorney general, in Shawnee county. The companies were charged with being in a combination in restraint of trade effected by the use of rating books and schedules published by Charles E. Eldridge of Topeka.

The supreme court, in ordering the suit dismissed, held that since the new insurance law gave the state the same relief which it sought by the injunction, the suit was no longer necessary. The decision of the court makes the use of the Eldridge rate books lawful, but upholds the power of the superintendent of insurance to regulate fire insurance rates and stop unreasonable increases.

Clinical Congress of Surgeons.

New York, Nov. 11.—The third annual meeting of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America opened today in the Waldorf-Astoria with about 2,000 physicians and surgeons present. Dr. Edward Martin of Chicago is presiding. Surgical clinics to the number of 995 will be held in the hospitals during the week, and all the visitors will have an opportunity to see masters of their specialties at work. For the evenings six literary sessions have been arranged, at which prominent surgeons will read papers dealing with subjects of live surgical interest.

A Suicide for Love.

St. Louis, Nov. 11.—Albert Balz, 27 years old, a high diver, wrestler and vaudeville actor, shot and killed himself here while 50 men were standing a few feet from him. In a memorandum book found in Balz's possession it was shown he was infatuated with a girl named "Josie," and that his failure to see her after making the attempt daily since September 16, caused him to become despondent.

J. A. Wayland a Suicide.

Girard, Kan., Nov. 11.—After undressing and going to bed as usual, James A. Wayland, editor of the Appeal to Reason, the Socialist weekly newspaper, shot himself and died without regaining consciousness. In a book Mr. Wayland left a note which read: "The struggle under the competitive system isn't worth the effort; let it pass."

For generations Sage and Sulphur have been used for hair and scalp troubles. Almost everyone knows the value of such a combination for keeping the hair a good even color, for curing dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, and for promoting the growth of the hair. Nowadays, almost any up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully prepared in perfectly equipped laboratories.

An ideal preparation of this sort is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for scalp troubles and thin, weak hair that is losing its color or coming out. Don't neglect your hair if it is full of dandruff, losing its color or coming out. Get a fifty-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, and see what a few days' treatment will do for you. SEE VALUE OF CHEESE

AMERICAN HOUSEWIVES HAVE COME TO USE MORE OF IT.

Should Always Be Only an Accompaniment to the Meal—Innumerable Ways in Which It May Be Temptingly Prepared.

Formerly cheese only appeared on American tables in homes away from the big centers, served in small uncooked portions as an accompaniment to apple pie or doughnuts. Today American housewives are using cheese in their daily menus. They have begun to recognize its food value and also the digestibility of cooked cheese. Toasted cheese is sometimes given to children and invalids today. Formerly this would have been considered equivalent to signing a death warrant. Cheese should not be taken as an entire meal, however. It is an accompaniment to a meal. It is not wise to serve it with heavy meat dishes. It contains only 30 per cent of water and is, therefore, a highly concentrated food. Compared with meat it contains twice the amount of solid food. Casein is the principal element of cheese, and analysis proves that it has all the fat-forming and heat-giving elements that meat has.

The grated cheese seems to go best with onion soup. A recipe for a very simple onion soup is:

Put six medium-sized minced onions into a stewpan with three ounces of melted butter, place over a slow fire and shake gently until the onions are soft and slightly browned. Add one quart of boiling water. Season with salt, pepper and nutmeg. Put two well-beaten eggs into a tureen and pour the soup, which should cook about thirty minutes, over them. When served, pass the grated Parmesan cheese in fancy cup or bowl with spoon. A little sprinkled into the soup adds greatly to its flavor.

A rich cheese bisque is made by adding one-half cupful of grated cheese to a soup made of one pint of milk and a cupful of chicken or lamb stock. Season by boiling an onion therein and thicken with flour and butter blended as for white sauce. When boiling, strain and add the cheese. Return to the fire until the cheese is melted. Have two well-beaten eggs in a bowl and pour the hot soup over these, beating to keep from curdling. Season with salt and white pepper.—Marion Herrick, in the Pittsburg Dispatch.

Lobster Buttered.
Pick the meat from a large freshly boiled lobster. Mince it finely, put in to a stewpan with an ounce and a half of fresh butter rolled in flour. Stir it over a gentle fire until quite hot, then add one-eighth of a nutmeg, grated, a dessertspoonful of chili vinegar, or if this is not at hand, common vinegar may be used; three grains of cayenne with large saltspoonful of white pepper in it. Two tablespoonfuls of rich gravy are a great improvement to this dish. Stir the mixture gently over the fire until quite hot. Serve in the shell of the lobster with bread crumbs over the meat. Time to simmer, ten minutes. This recipe is sufficient for six or seven persons.

Removing Lemon Soda Stain.
Soda water leaves a stain on serge, and lemon soda on blue serge may be removed by wetting the spot with a mixture of equal parts of alcohol and ammonia. Afterward sponge gently with alcohol until the stain is removed.

Before you apply this it is a good idea to try it on a sample of goods the same as the dress, if you have it, and if you have no sample then try the mixture on some part of the gown that is inconspicuous.

The stain might be removed in another way. This is to rub with soap and apply chloride of soda, with a camel's hair brush, rinsing quickly and thoroughly.

Veal Cutlets.

A slice from the leg of veal makes the best cutlet. Fry slices of salt pork in the frying pan, take out and keep hot; dip the slices of veal into beaten egg, then in cracker crumbs; fry them about 15 or 20 minutes in the pork fat; dish the cutlets, add a little hot water or soup stock to the gravy in the pan and let it boil up. If gravy is not brown enough, add one-half teaspoon vegetable bouquet. Pour gravy around cutlets on a hot platter and garnish with the sliced salt pork. Serve grated horseradish for a relish with this dish.

Beefsteak Roll With Tomato Sauce.

When possible have the third slice of round steak, as it is most suitable for rolling. Make a dressing as for fowl spread thickly over steak, roll and tie. After browning on all sides cook in salt and boiling water at least two hours, or until nearly tender; then turn a quart of canned tomatoes into the kettle and boil one-half hour longer. Take out meat and set where it will keep hot, strain the contents of kettle, add thickening, let boil a few minutes and pour over meat.

Spanish Rarebit.

One-half onion chopped fine and fried brown in one tablespoonful butter. Add one pound of mild cheese broken in bits and stir until melted, and then add one-half teaspoonful of mustard and salt and pepper to taste. Then add two-thirds of a cup of strained tomato and let cook a short time, stirring occasionally, and then add two well-beaten eggs, stir well and cook one minute.

SAMP AN OLD SOUTHERN DISH

Preparation of Corn That Requires Long Cooking and Watching, but Is Well Worth It

This is a preparation of corn which requires long slow cooking. Select very white and evenly-cracked samp. Wash it thoroughly and put it to soak overnight in lukewarm water. Next day throw that water off and cover with fresh cold water; bring gradually to a boil and boil for five hours. As the water becomes absorbed add fresh boiling water from time to time. When certain the grains are tender throughout drain off any water that remains. Salt should be added with the last water poured on so that it may permeate the samp; allow one tablespoonful to one cupful of samp measured uncooked. Put the samp in a farina kettle with milk to more than cover. Let it cook gently, with the cover off, for one hour or until the milk is absorbed and the samp creamy. Add for the quantity given one tablespoonful of butter. Serve when it melts.

This is an old-fashioned southern dish easily prepared over a low fire. It can not swell properly during the cooking unless it is kept covered with boiling water.

When any is left over it may be formed into thin cakes, or sliced thin, cut in regular pieces, dipped in egg and fine cracker crumbs and baked brown in the oven. It will be found delicious.

DEVONSHIRE CREAM IS GOOD

Delicacy Not a Difficult Matter to Make, and It Is Usually Appreciated by All.

It is not a difficult matter to make this delicacy, which is always appreciated by young and old. The quantity of milk needed may seem excessive; for a pound of the cream one and one-half gallons of good milk is required, but the leftover milk may be put to many uses, and, after all, the ordinary family would be satisfied with much less.

To make this cream strain new milk into a large shallow pan until it is four or five inches deep. Leave in a cool place for twelve hours in the summer, for twenty-four hours in the winter. Do not disturb it in any way. Next carefully carry the pan to the stove and place over a pot of hot water. The heating should take at least one-half hour and the temperature should rise to 180 degrees to develop the proper flavor. It is done when the cream forms a ring around the pan and is wrinkled on the top. Let it stand twelve hours before skimming.

Sweet Green Peppers Stuffed.

Peel and cut fine enough mild onions—Bermuda or Spanish—to measure one cupful. Steam until very tender, then mix with them one cupful of fine stale bread crumbs, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of lemon juice, one-half of a half teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoon of mushroom catsup, two tablespoonfuls of finely chopped parsley and three tablespoonfuls of butter. Wipe six medium-sized sweet green peppers, remove the stem end of each, also the seeds and white veins. Drop in boiling water and boil for three minutes, then drain and dry them. Fill with the mixture, put close together in a shallow pan, dot with bits of butter and bake in a sharp oven until well browned. Serve on hot toast.

Russian Salad.

Mix one cup each cold cooked carrot cubes and potato cubes, one cup cold cooked peas, and one cup cold cooked beans, and marinate with French dressing. Arrange on lettuce leaves in four sections and cover each section with mayonnaise dressing. Garnish two sections with small pieces of smoked salmon, one section with finely chopped whites of hard-boiled eggs and one section with yolks of hard-boiled eggs forced through a strainer. Put small sprigs of parsley in lines dividing section. Good to look at, fine to eat, and, best of all, not much work.

Asparagus Stewed.

Cut the points as far as they are perfectly tender into pieces not more than one-half an inch in length. Wash them and throw into boiling salted water. When they are tender take out asparagus and lay aside for a few minutes. Have some pieces of toasted bread. Dip them into the water in which the asparagus was boiled. Butter them and place in dish, laying asparagus on top. Pour a little milk into saucepan. Thicken with a little flour and add a piece of butter and salt to taste. Pour the mixture over the asparagus and serve very hot.

Corn Balls.

Did you ever use the ten-minute candy rule to make corn balls? It makes splendid ones. Discard the hard corn, that did not pop out, have in big pan and pour the candy over and stir in as fast as possible. Then form in balls, but one must work very quick, else they will crisp up so one cannot handle them. Don't wet or butter the hands. It is not necessary.

To Renew Chiffon.

Spread a wet cloth over a very hot iron and hold the chiffon over the steam until it is free from wrinkles. Renew both cloth and iron as soon as the steam flows freely. Allow the chiffon to dry quickly.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Salmon Croquettes.

Pick bones and skin from one large can red salmon, add one raw egg, mix with cracker crumbs in small cakes, roll in cracker crumbs and fry in butter.—C. N. L.

MAKE HOMES PRETTIER

GOOD IDEA SOMETIMES TO TRY NEW EFFECTS.

Change in Arrangement of Furniture Frequently Will Work Wonders—"Princess" Something That Should be Avoided.

We will soon be putting our houses in order for the winter, and many of us are wishing we could achieve some new effects or make our homes prettier than they were last season, writes Barbara Boyd in the Chicago Evening Post. But as we are going to use exactly the same furnishings, we feel rather hopeless as to securing any new or better results.

But we may be able to work quite a transformation simply by a change in arrangement. An interior decorator of repute has been talking lately upon the value of lines. He says no room will look its best if the lines of the furnishings all go the same way. This does not mean they should go "every which way," as old-time housekeepers used to say. But monotony should be broken.

A room in which every piece of furniture is arranged primly around the four walls will look better if a sofa is placed diagonally across a corner, or a table set at right angles to the other pieces of furniture.

Then every room ought to have a center of some sort. If there is a fireplace this naturally becomes the central point. Easy chairs are grouped about it, a table with a reading lamp, possibly a davenport.

But if there is no fireplace, and in most houses there is none, some point or some object should be made the center. It may be a desk, a table, the piano, the sofa. But easy chairs should be placed near and a reading light handy. Such a center gives a room a homelike, sociable air.

Then, too, the housekeeper who wishes to give her home a different air this fall may do so by regrouping some of the furnishings. Perhaps she can get a more harmonious color scheme by changing about some of the little fixings, such as sofa cushions, stand covers, small rugs, portieres, vases and bric-a-brac. Or she may secure a much better effect by regrouping some of her pictures. And it is just possible she may make her rooms far more harmonious and artistic by omitting altogether some of the furnishings. There may be some that jar, that do not fit into the furnishing scheme of any room. These may be the very things that have caused the dissatisfaction she has felt without exactly knowing what was the matter. Or the rooms may be overcrowded, and this may be the cause of the home's not looking as artistic and restful as she wishes.

Why not experiment along these lines when putting the house in order this fall? You may be able thereby to effect some changes that will be a delight to you all winter.

Ham Cakes.

Take pieces of boiled ham or smoked shoulder and chop fine. Boil potatoes and mash or use cold potatoes and chop. Take two-thirds of potatoes to one-third meat. Add one or two eggs (beaten), enough to make it the right consistency to shape into round flat cakes. Fry in hot fat after dredging them with flour. Should be seasoned to suit taste with salt and pepper. Fish cakes, made in the same way, are very nice. This is a good way to use up pieces of meat or fish. Most all working men like them for their midday luncheon.

Peach Mound.

Pare and quarter or cut in eighths six ripe, soft peaches; soak half a box of gelatin in one pint of milk over the fire, and when it boils add one cupful of sugar and the well-beaten yolks of four eggs; stir thoroughly until it begins to thicken, then remove from the fire; add one pint of cream whipped very light and flavor with lemon. While yet a little warm, put the fruit and cream alternately in a wet mold, having a layer of cream at both the top and bottom. Set on ice or in a cold place from four to six hours and serve with sweetened whipped cream.

Mock Angel Food Cake.

Put one cup sweet milk in a pan and heat to a boiling point. Put one cup flour, one cup of sugar, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder in a pan and sift four times. Have the whites of two eggs beaten stiff, then add the hot milk, a very little salt, and one teaspoon of vanilla; beat one minute, then fold the whites of eggs in very gently. Do not stir, fold in by drawing the spoon through the mixture. Butter a pan with fresh butter and bake in a moderate oven.

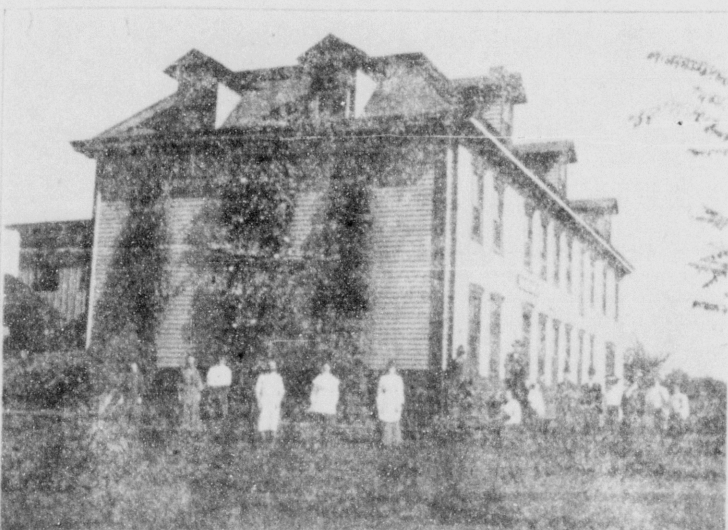

Kidney Stew.

Take kidneys and wash, then put on stove, cook slowly, then when almost done cut into small dice, put through a food chopper and add salt, pepper and make a gravy. This is fine served on toast. Kidneys make delicious stew. Cook and add onions and five or six potatoes. Thicken with a little flour. They are very nice fried, but the stew cannot be excelled.

Cheese Biscuit.

Make a biscuit dough, roll out half an inch thick. Sprinkle with grated cheese, season with salt and pepper and bits of butter; roll up jelly cake fashion, cut slices from end and bake in quick oven. Serve hot.

Surprised by Rebekahs.

On Wednesday evening, November 6, while the I. O. O. F. of Wilcox were in their hall in regular session, they were surprised by about fifty of the Rebekahs, who had slipped up to the stairway with baskets filled with good things to eat. After the initiatory degree was given to their candidate, Rev. Roy Hughes, now visiting in Maryville, they were invited to the dining room to partake of a sumptuous banquet. After they had eaten they returned to the lodge room and put on the work of the first degree, while the Rebekahs ate and cleared away the things. It is needless to say that the Odd Fellows enjoyed their surprise. There were thirty-two of them seated at one long table. Mr. and Mrs. Bosley and daughter of Skidmore were present, which added to the pleasure of the occasion.

W. F. M. S. Meeting.

The Womens' Foreign Missionary Society of the First M. E. church met at the home of Mrs. J. Arthur Wray Thursday afternoon, with a good attendance of the membership. The devotional service was led by the president, Mrs. W. B. Christy. The study for the afternoon was "The Breaking of Day in China," Mrs. M. D. Kemp giving a review of the first chapter. Mrs. J. F. Linville read of "The Stress and Storm in China," and Mrs. J. C. Allender read a beautiful story entitled "An Amazon in Cathay." Mrs. O. C. Hanna conducted a very interesting "Mystery Box" and Mrs. W. B. Christy and Mrs. R. S. Branigan gave excellent report of the Des Moines branch meeting at Clarinda. Mrs. W. O. Garrett presided at the piano. Rev. Gilbert S. Cox, the new pastor, was in attendance and spoke encouragingly and approvingly of the work the women are doing and made all know that he would be a helper to them. A pleasant social hour followed and luncheon was served by Mrs. Lillie Shelton, Mrs. J. C. Archer and Mrs. Wray.

Was a Delightful Evening.

Nearly the entire congregation of the First Presbyterian church spent one of the most delightful evenings the membership has ever enjoyed in the church parlors Friday evening. A program was first given in the auditorium. Mrs. Charles S. Jackson gave two piano numbers that were much appreciated, as all her piano work is. Helen Rose Crawford followed with a very sweetly sung song, and then came a silent quartette that was indeed something novel and new under the sun. Not a sound did they make, but their actions were much more effective than sounds or words would have been. Mrs. Fred Kurtz performed at the pipe organ, and the other performers were Mrs. O. L. Holmes, Mrs. L. O. Goble, Dick Hotchkiss and Will G. Sawyers. They brought down the house, nearly, and they were followed by a very peculiar solo by Mrs. Goble, who did not strike a tone in unison with the piano accompaniment. But she went merrily on with it, the song was entitled "Peter Gray," and was on the order of "We're Ninety-Nine Miles From Home," and refused to respond to an encore. Mr. W. H. Crawford and Miss May Murray sang a comic duet, nicely, which ended the program. The social time that followed was great and ended with the serving of coffee, cider, pumpkin pie and doughnuts.

Married Twenty-Seven Years.

At the close of the business session of the Rebekah lodge of Wilcox last Friday night the members were most agreeably surprised by the appearance of Mr. and Mrs. James Vert, attired as a bride and groom of twenty-seven years ago. Mrs. Vert wore her wedding dress of brown silk, made in the fashion of that time, with side drapery and puffs on the back of the skirt, taking eighteen yards of extra wide silk to make the dress. As one of the members played the wedding march they caught together, marching to the center of the room to the great pleasure of all present. After receiving congratulations they graciously treated all with candy. They left in a little while for their home with the best wishes of all for a long and happy life. Then some one suggested that they be serenaded. So all hastened after them, very quietly, with tin pans, cans, cow bells and a shotgun, and most anything that would make a noise. Every one was able to get to the door of the Vert home before being discovered. Then the serenade began in the good old-fashioned way. Mr. and Mrs. Vert invited all in. Mrs. Vert said if she had known they were coming she would have had ice cream and cake ready. "Time enough yet, Mrs. Vert." After chatting awhile the serenaders said good night.

MISSOURI HENS MADE RECORD

EGG CONTEST JUST CLOSED WAS GREAT SUCCESS.

State Poultry Board Managing Second National Contest, to Begin November 15.

Mountain Grove, Mo., Nov. 11.—With a record of 281 eggs laid in one year a White Plymouth Rock hen in the national egg laying contest just closed here has almost equaled the North American record of 282 eggs, held by a Barred Plymouth Rock at Guelph, Canada. The hen which won first honors at Mountain Grove is owned by J. A. Bickerdike of Millersville, Ill. The prize from Missouri is $25.

The leading pen of five hens, rose comb Rhode Island Reds, owned by D. E. Hall of California, Mo., made a record of 1,042 eggs, or an average of over 208 eggs for each hen. Two silver cups and other prizes go to the leading pen.

The contest, which has just closed did much for the advancement of poultry in Missouri, the greatest hen state, and the Missouri poultry board is managing a second national contest which will begin here November 15.

There were 655 hens from all parts of the country in the contest, and they laid a total of 87,843 eggs, or an average of over 134 eggs a hen.

T. E. Quisenberry, who has charge of the poultry experiment station here, believes the egg production of Missouri and other states will be materially increased as a result of the contests.

Seven hundred hens, representing 26 varieties of poultry and gathered from England, Canada and 26 states, will compete in the next contest at Mountain Grove.

GOMPERS MADE ANNUAL ADDRESS

President Tells American Federation of Labor Los Angeles Explosion Caused Loss of Strike.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 11.—In his annual address to the American Federation of Labor, which opened its convention here today, President Samuel Gompers stated that if it had not been for the blowing up of the Los Angeles Times by the McNamara brothers and Orrie McManigal, the metal trades unions would have won their strike for an eight-hour day, which was in progress at the time of the dynamiting.

This was the only time that President Gompers made any direct reference to the McNamara affair, and he did not mention the trial of the 45 alleged dynamiters which is now in progress in Indianapolis and which involves the leaders of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers. He did, however, point out the things the federation had done in aid of the unions which are engaged in iron and steel work, and added that, "owing to events and incidents which cannot be recorded here at this time, a visible decline in the power of the iron and steel workers' organization ensued, particularly where the membership had been employed by the great steel corporations." He condemned the United States Steel corporation for its determination in maintaining an open shop. Mr. Gompers' address was followed by a report submitted by Secretary Morrison.

CIRCUIT CLERKS WANT REFORMS

Annual Session at Moberly Planned to Ask for Legislation Making Their Work Easier.

Fulton, Mo., Nov. 11.—The circuit clerks and recorders of Missouri completed their annual session at Moberly. The visitors were welcomed to Moberly by Mayor Cave and the response and annual address was made by J. E. Boggs of Columbia, president of the association. They were entertained with motor rides over the city.

The association will make an effort to have legislation passed this winter providing for the abolishment of marginal releases of deeds of trusts, more stringent marriage laws to act as a safeguard to the recorders, abolishment of chattel mortgage filing systems and additional fees for circuit clerks.

Farmers' Institute Workers Meet.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 11.—The Piedmont hotel was crowded today with farmers' institute workers, when the 17th annual meeting of their national association was called to order by President Franklin Dye of Trenton, N. J. Routine work took up the time of the morning session and in the afternoon special reports were received. This evening the president will present his address and a number of papers will be read and discussed. Tomorrow and Wednesday more papers will be heard, the convention being divided into groups.

Jack Johnson Still in Jail.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Attorneys for Jack Johnson, who is held in the county jail in default of a $30,000 bond on a charge of violating the Mann act, will go to the United States supreme court in an effort to obtain the release of the negro champion. The contention will be set up that the Mann act is unconstitutional.

Meningitis in Oklahoma.

Vinita, Ok., Nov. 11.—On account of three cases of spinal meningitis here, a proclamation was issued forbidding all public meetings after 10 o'clock Monday night.

WELL TO AVOID DAMPNESS

One Thing About Outdoor Life That Can Not in Any Way Be Termed Beneficial.

The woman who leads an outdoor life must protect herself from dampness if she is to keep well. The mistake of the novice is trying to harden herself as no seasoned tar would attempt.

As rubbers wear out quickly when tramping have waterproof shoes that are guaranteed to shed moisture, yet are light and shapely. They come in two heights, 12 and 16 inches, or the ordinary walking shoe may be made in waterproof leather.

The woman who has once owned oilskins will never be without them. There is a feather weight grade, smooth, glossy and free from wrinkles that is made up into long coats with a warm corduroy collar; or, even smarter, come in a jacket and skirt, more convenient for use in a boat.

For the head are rubber hoods with a visor and deep collar that can be folded into pocket compass. Rather more becoming is the soft hat lined with oiled silk.

A rubber blanket that folds into a neat case is a great safeguard from dampness. It can be used when sitting on damp ground, and keeps out dampness when put over bedclothing in outdoor sleeping.

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Paper plates with roses painted thereon come with dollies and paper tablecloth to match, and are truly artistic.

To remove the odor of fish from forks, first wash the forks in hot water and then remove from the water and rub them over with a tiny piece of butter. Wash again and no odor will remain.

To clean fawn colored suede gloves put the gloves on the hands and rub them all over with a mixture of fuller's earth and alum, then brush off the powder and the gloves should look as good as new.

To renew chiffon spread a wet cloth over a very hot iron and hold the chiffon over the steamer until it is free from wrinkles. Repeat the process with another hot iron and wet cloth as soon as the steam begins to flow feebly. The chiffon should be dried quickly.

Sandwich Labels.

The clever hostess of today will let no little idea of table service escape her observing eyes if she enjoys the reputation of having things just right. Not only must she be supplied with little menu cards, place cards, tiny dinner cards, but now she must use the attractive little name cards for sandwiches.

We all know from experience that almost all dainty sandwiches look alike, so a wise brain has decided that the hostess must label her viands. For garden parties, al fresco teas, buffet breakfasts and informal veranda affairs these convenient name cards appear.

As many hostesses have the little solid silver tags into which the name of the liquor or cordial written on a card is inserted, the same tags might be utilized for the assorted sandwiches.

The English custom of labeling heavily garnished dishes might be used on some occasions by the American hostess, and she would surely be considered a most thoughtful woman.

Apple and Peach Pudding.

Take equal parts ripe sour apples and peaches and mix well; put in baking dish; to each quart fruit add pint of sugar; flavor with nutmeg; cover with a batter made by beating together one egg, one cup sweet milk, one teaspoon baking powder, one cup sugar and enough flour to make stiff batter. Bake slowly until a rich brown. Serve warm with cream and sugar.

Spice Cake Without Eggs.—One cup of sugar, one tablespoon of butter, one teaspoon each cinnamon and allspice, one small teaspoon salt, one cup sour milk, one small teaspoon soda dissolved in it, one cup chopped raisins, two cups flour.

French Stew.

Put a little butter in a spider, slice a small onion and fry in the butter. Cut leftover turnip and carrot in fancy shapes. Put the gravy left from the roast into the spider. Cook a few minutes and strain. Now cut nice slices of the cold roast meat and put in the gravy. Cook ten minutes, add turnip and carrot and one can of peas. Pour on a platter and serve.

Chili Sauce.

Twenty-four large, ripe tomatoes; five large onions, three green peppers, all chopped fine; then add four even tablespoonfuls salt, five tablespoonfuls brown sugar, four tablespoonfuls cinnamon, two tablespoonfuls ginger, one-half tablespoon cloves, one quart vinegar. Cook one and one-half hours. Put in glass jars and seal. This is excellent.

Tomato Jelly Salad.

Follow ordinary directions for making gelatin, using one pint strained tomato to one-quarter box gelatin. Season with salt, pepper and a dash of celery salt. Cool in small loaf pan; when almost set, add one-half cupful pecan meats. Cube and serve with mayonnaise on lettuce.

Molasses Pie.

Mix one-half pint best molasses with one tablespoon of flour; add juice of one large lemon and rind and pulp chopped fine; bake with two crusts.

VOTE ON SINGLE TAX AGAIN.

Is Said It Will Be Brought Up Again in Two Years.

According to information from the anti-single tax headquarters at Kansas City the single tax advocates will again attempt to have the amendment brought before the voters of Missouri at the next state election in two years. This can be done by reason of the initiative.

CHUTNEY AT ITS BEST

MANY INGREDIENTS GO TO FORM DELICIOUS DISH.

Mixture Really is Largely a Matter of Individual Taste, Though Some Staple Fruits Will Have to Be Included.

Delicious Sweet Chutney.—Twelve apples, three bananas, three pears (slightly green), three quinces, twelve tomatoes (more green than ripe), eight small onions, four seeded raisins, one and a half pints vinegar, half a pint water, two cups brown sugar; spice a teaspoon of each, allspice, cloves, ginger, cinnamon, mace or vary the spices to suit the taste. Peel all the fruit and the tomatoes and put all except the bananas through the meat chopper; slice the bananas; add the vinegar, water, sugar and spice. Boil slowly for three or four hours until all are blended, then bottle. It is well to use an asbestos plate under the kettle, as it burns easily. Other fruits, such as peaches and grapes, may also be added. Firm peaches, such as "clings," are best, and grapes would have to be seeded.

English Recipe for Marmalade.—Select, if possible, seedless fruit. Two dozen oranges (medium size), a dozen lemons and four grapefruit. Discard the peel from half of the oranges; cut into thin slices the peeled and the unpeeled oranges, also the grapefruit and four of the lemons, peel and all. Measure the fruit, and to each pint of fruit add a generous pint and a half of water. Set aside for 24 hours; then cook in the same water for about an hour, counting from the time it begins to boil. Set aside for another 24 hours; then boil slowly until clear. Measure, and to each quart add two and a quarter pounds of sugar. Bring to a boil and cook rapidly for about 20 minutes, stirring and skimming. Test a few drops on a cold saucer every few minutes; when it shows a tendency to jelly add the juice of the eight remaining lemons; bring to a boil and bottle. This will make firm, clear marmalade.

Candied Orange Peel.—For a few days save the peel from the oranges eaten by the family. Cut in narrow strips enough to about half fill a two quart pitcher. Fill the pitcher with cold water to which has been added a teaspoon of salt. Every morning for a week drain off the water and fill with fresh water; after the first two mornings omit the salt. At the end of the week boil three cups of cane sugar with one cup of water until it strings from the spoon, then add the orange peel, already drained and stir until it begins to sugar; turn immediately onto a large flat dish and leave to cool. It can be kept almost indefinitely in glass jars.

ADOPTION OF PHEMIE

Good Resolution of Miss Celia Bennett.

By ELLA RANDALL PEARCE.

Miss Celia Bennett looked thoughtfully after the receding form of her late caller; then a faint smile crept over her face and she nodded her head slowly.

"Praps you're right, Phebe Taggart," she reflected. "Praps I am a selfish old woman, living here alone in this big, comfortable cottage, just a-hoarding my money when I might be doing good for some one. Praps it's my duty to adopt somebody—I don't know."

She sat down in a little low rocker and meditatively eyed the big gray cat that approached her in dignified fashion.

"What d'you say, Pickwick? Are we selfish—living alone together, you and I? You know it ain't just what Phebe Taggart says; but I've an inkling myself that this life is kinder aimless—and lonesome. There!"

Miss Bennett mused a while in silence.

"It's too big a responsibility, bringing up children when you don't know how. Now, grown-up boys and girls—they'd just be running away and getting married and leaving me in a little while; and old folks'd be getting sick and leaving me, too, praps. I wish Oliver'd come back! Well, if I'm to adopt somebody, there's—or, there's Phemie—Phemie Havens!"

A soft flush mounted to her cheeks and her mild eyes sparkled.

"I'll adopt Phemie—she's past the marrying age, and she's right companionable, Phemie is. I'll go right over and see her while the spell's on."

Phemie Havens looked up in startled surprise when her visitor made known her errand.

"Adopt me!" she faltered. "Why, Miss Bennett, I've no claim on you at all. Why should you think of such a thing?"

"Because I want to do something for somebody; and you're a good girl, Phemie. You haven't any near of kin, and you're working your eyes out and your back crooked over those little embroidered things that barely keep your soul and body together. You'll have a good home with me and I'll give you an allowance. Of course, my property goes to Oliver—you understand that—but I've got enough and to spare."

Phemie's face had been settling into an expression of stern renunciation, but now it softened and dimpled into a wistful smile.

"Are you sure you need me—that I can be of real service to you?"

"Yes, I settled on you because I've known you so long and you've got such an even disposition. I wonder some good man didn't show his appreciation long ago; but I guess there's no beaus around now to bother Pickwick and me, eh, Phemie?"

A slight embarrassed flush warmed Phemie's pale cheeks, but she shook her head carelessly. Miss Bennett never guessed what dreams had bloomed and faded within that quiet breast.

"Now," said the elder woman, briskly, "I'll drive over for you and your belongings Saturday. I've been wishing Oliver'd come back, but I don't suppose he ever will. He's a rover, just like his great-uncle Jason. Good boy, though; writes me and sends things from all the places he goes to. You didn't live here in Oliver's time, did you? Must be nearly of an age. Well, he's all I've got and I suppose he'll marry and settle down in some heathenish, far-away country. Now, remember, Phemie—Saturday, in time for tea."

Saturday afternoon found Miss Euphemia Havens in a state of unusual agitation. It seemed to her that she was taking a very important step, and she had dire misgivings; but, partly to conceal her dubious concern and partly in honor of the occasion—for it had been some time since she had even been invited out to tea—Phemie had put on her best gown of blue batiste and decorated her gray turban with a new pink rose. A white collar at her throat crossed with a little lace jabot. Miss Bennett had never seen her looking more animated and attractive.

As the two women descended from the carriage and walked up the gravelled path to the cottage, Pickwick came slowly to meet them; then, some one arose from the low rocker and stood on the top step leaning out between the honeysuckle vines—a broad masculine figure with a big Panama hat swinging in one hand and a genial smile of greeting on his bronze face.

Her Worst Fears Were Realized.

"Hello, Aunt Celia!" boomed out a hearty voice. "Don't you know me?"

"Why—ee, it's Oliver! Oh, Phemie, it's my nephew. This is Miss Havens, Oliver. She—lives—"

"I've come to stay awhile with Miss Bennett," interposed Phemie, quietly, her cheeks deep-flushed and her eyes downcast.

"And I've come to stay for good," said Oliver Bennett, decisively. "Yes sir-ee! Going to quit my roving and settle down now. Aunt Celia, ain't you glad?"

Phemie sat alone in her room a few minutes later. Her worst fears were realized; she had indeed made a great mistake. Not only was she not needed now in Miss Bennett's home, but her presence would be undesirable. And, when the elder woman had told her story, what would this stranger think of her acceptance of his aunt's bounty? How might he misconstrue her motives? Well, she would have to stay awhile and see what happened.

What happened was that Oliver Bennett took complete possession of the little cottage and its gentle occupants. Never before had their lives been so full, so gay, so interesting. When they were not "faring forth on pleasure bent," he was telling them vivid tales of the strange places and people he had seen and the wonders of his travels.

Phemie thought it was the excitement of these stories of adventure that made her heart beat faster when in the presence of this fascinating newcomer. At no time, however, could she overcome the feeling she had that he secretly resented her coming to the house.

Sometimes she caught him looking at her in a way she could not understand. He seemed to be probing beneath the surface of her social manners and questioning her inner self. At such times she felt almost guilty.

The climax came on Saturday evening, just three weeks after Phemie's arrival. She was coming in through the rear doorway when a bass voice drifted down the hall from the piazza where Miss Bennett and her nephew were sitting.

"But, Aunt Celia, this talk of adoption is nonsense. You don't want her to stay here with you after all I've said! I'll speak to her tonight, myself."

Poor Phemie grasped the railing with trembling fingers and the hot tears gushed to her eyes. The blow had fallen—this was the end! Oliver Bennett himself had pronounced her sentence. Well, she would not wait for him to speak to her. She would escape such humiliation.

Quickly her small trunk was packed and preparations made for a hasty departure. She wrote a brief note to Miss Bennett, and, fastening on her gray turban and cape, stole down the rear stairway again, out into the shadows of the summer night.

Tears blinded her so she could not see the obstacle in the path against which her flying feet carried her. A pair of stalwart arms caught her as she staggered from the impact.

"Ginger! Running me down, eh?" cried a masculine voice. "What's your hurry? Why, Miss Havens, what's the matter? Wait, wait, little woman, you can't run away from me like this. There's something in the wind, and I'm going to know about it."

"You can't," sobbed Phemie, wildly struggling to escape. "Let me go—I'm going away. I knew I'd be misunderstood! You—you don't have to advise her not to adopt me. Oh, please, please let me go!"

Oliver Bennett's wits were working quickly. He drew the trembling figure he held to a nearby seat and spoke soothingly, but firmly.

"Miss Havens—Phemie Havens—listen to me. You didn't hear all I said. I told my aunt she shouldn't keep you here because I—I wanted to adopt you myself! There, the cat's out of the bag. You're the finest little woman I've ever seen, to my notion, and I'm going to marry you if you'll have me. I was waiting for a chance to tell you, but, of course, if you want to run away—if you want to go—now—Phemie, you go right along and I'll live here with Aunt Celia and Pickwick."

He opened his arms wide, and Phemie—well, after an instant of dazed silence, Phemie just gave a happy, fluttering, long-drawn sigh and settled back without a thought of the new pink rose on her turban.

The Night of Gasoline.

"Ask me to go to the theater any night in the week except gasoline night and I'll go," said the man.

"What night is that?" the woman asked.

"Saturday. Women get their gloves home from the cleaners on Saturday or else clean them themselves the last of the week, and the gasoline fumes haven't had time to evaporate. Half the women you meet in a crowd on Saturday night carry a gasoline odor about on their gloves. In a hot, stuffy place, that's pretty bad. On Monday night gasoline still perfumes the air, but it is getting faint and I can stand it, but not on Saturday."

Hated to Encourage It.

"Can you direct me to the nearest hotel?" asked the stranger.

"Yes," replied the old inhabitant. "I can, but I hate to do it."

"Why so?"

"It's one of those new-fangled places where you've got to take a bath along with your room, even if you only expect to stay three or four days."

PAIN IN THE ROYAL NOTICE

Composer Had Occasion to Remember Former Time That Maria Theresa Honored Him.

An amusing incident of the healthy boyhood of the great composer, Joseph Haydn, is given by Mary Maxwell Moffat in her biography of the Austrian empress, Maria Theresa.

When von Reutter became choirmaster of St. Stephen's cathedral he had Joseph Haydn among his pupils.

During a visit to the Hungarian Prince Esterhazy, in 1773, Maria Theresa took occasion to say a word of praise to Haydn, who had composed the music of the opera given in her honor, and had conducted the performance. She expressed the conviction that she had seen him before, although she could not remember the occasion.

"The last time your majesty was pleased to take notice of me," said Haydn, "you ordered me a good thrashing."

"That does not sound like me," rejoined the empress. "How did it happen?"

Then Haydn told of a Whitsuntide when, with other pupils of von Reutter, he had been brought to Schoenbrunn to sing in the chapel. Between the services the boys took to clambering over the scaffolding of the new wings of the palace. The empress caught sight of them, and sent word forbidding the dangerous sport. But the attraction of the scaffolding was irresistible; on the following day the boys were again risking their necks. When Maria Theresa expostulated with von Reutter, his surmise that the ring-leader was "that young scamp, Joseph Haydn," led her to suggest that the rod be used to improve his memory—Youth's Companion.

BEST EXERCISE FOR WOMEN

Popularity of Fencing Justified in Results That Follow Its Persistent Practice.

Fencing is always popular with women who have the leisure and the opportunity to go through with the required training, and lately it has become even more the fashion with women prominent in society. Even during the summer, while they were away at their country or seaside homes, many women kept up their fencing lessons, having the instructor come to their homes for the purpose.

All experts in physical training rate fencing as the best possible means of exercise for women. It ranks with swimming and rowing in that it gives all the development needed without making the muscles too heavy, as do some of the other sports. For the woman of today who longs above everything else to be slender and supple, it is the ideal exercise. Those women who are so faithful to their fencing lessons have discovered that a brisk half hour with the foils is more effective in keeping their figures girlishly lithe and slender than a half day spent at heavier and less graceful forms of exercise.

Work of Chemical Engineer.

Great is the debt that the new south owes to the chemical engineer, whose contributions are enumerated by a writer: "The utilization of the formerly wasted cotton seed in oil making and the employment of the pressed hulls as a cattle feed; the production of glycerin from cotton seed oil; the use of the vast clay and shale beds in brick and tile manufacture; and the opening up of deposits of phosphates and phosphate rock that yield commercial fertilizers. Through his experiments and advice the pine forests formerly destroyed in obtaining turpentine may now be saved, while lumber, as it has been pointed out that turpentine can be obtained from waste sawdust slabs and old trees or stumps cut down or blown down by storms. High grade oak ties for railroad use may be made to last longer than before and low grade lumber (such as loblolly pine) can be made as efficient as untreated oak by simply impregnating the timber with creosote oil, and it is now a thriving industry throughout the south."

"Going Out to See a Man."

Artemus Ward, about half through his lecture, announced a recess for fifteen minutes, so as to go out and "see a man." H. R. Tracey, a Washington editor, seeing an opportunity to improve upon the joke, sent these lines to the platform:

"Dear Artemus: If you will place yourself under my guidance, I'll take you to 'see a man,' without crossing the street."

A restaurant keeper at that time in Washington was named Aman, to whom Ward was taken, and found Aman luxuriating at the well-laden refreshment board. Everybody "caught on" to the phrase, and, getting up between the acts and "going out to see Aman" became contagious.

Oyster Can Change Its Sex.

At the Academy of Science in Paris recently Edmund Perrier, director of the Museum of Natural History, submitted a series of singular researches by M. Danton, who has discovered that the sex of an oyster often varies in the same subject without apparent cause.

Another fact ascertained by M. Danton is the triumph of femininity among oysters, the male being the inferior and weaker sex, and as food conditions change for the better or worse, they transform themselves from one sex to the other.
